1,600 Local Issues At Stake

2,300,000 Of Ohio Voters Expected At Polls Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Today's off-year election in Ohio is expected to draw nearly 2,300,000 voters for grass-roots decisions on more than 1,600 local issues and candidates for about 15,000 public offices.

A forecast of warmer weather with little likelihood of rain encouraged a good turnout.

The election has practically no statewide political significance.

Only two statewide issues are on the ballot and both are under a technical cloudy which, conceivably, could invalidate them even in face of voter approval.

Principal voter attention is directed toward hot municipal races. Some of Ohio's big cities are electing mayors and deciding major issues.

Cincinnati has a king-size field of 29 candidates for nine council seats—nine candidates each from the Republican, Democratic and Charterite groups plus two Independents. The Charterite group is made up of both Republicans and Democrats. Cincinnati has a city manager form of government.

In Cleveland, Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze, a Democrat, is seeking re-election with Republican Tom Ireland as his opponent. A county charter proposal also is on the ballot.

In Akron, Mayor Leo Berg (D) seeks re-election against the strong challenge of Ed Garrigan (R).

One contest pits Edward J. Gilman (R) against Frank R. Franko, unseated municipal judge who defeated Mayor Frank X. Kryzan in the Democratic primary.

In Columbus, Mayor Maynard E. Sensenbrenner (D), seeking a third term, goes against Council President W. Ralston Westlake (R).

Toledo will decide on two proposals to change the city charter. One would provide for an elected mayor with strong powers; the other for an elected mayor with limited powers. Right now, the city has a city manager with a mayor appointed by City Council.

Lucas County, of which Toledo is a part, will vote on a county charter proposal.

Nine members of the State Board of Education will be elected from their congressional districts. There are contests in only two districts—the 20th and 21st—both in Cuyahoga County.

The constitutional questions put up to the voters by this year's Legislature would permit additional appellate court judges in districts where work loads are exceptionally heavy and would lift restrictions on the sale by cities of sewer and water services outside their corporate limits.

But the proposed amendments will be up in the air until Franklin County courts dispose of two lawsuits which assert the two issues have not been placed before the voters properly.

The suits, filed by Paul E. Gilday, Cincinnati attorney, seek injunctions to bar Secretary of State Ted W. Brown from counting and certifying the official vote.

Failure of the court to issue a restraining order apparently will permit Brown to count the vote. It still would be possible, though, for the court to prohibit him from certifying the official vote. That is the necessary official act to put the constitutional amendments in effect.

Gilday contends clerks of the Ohio House and Senate failed to enter the tests of the amendment resolutions in their journals while the Legislature still was in session, as required by the constitution.

The Ohio Supreme Court a few days ago ruled a third proposed amendment off the ballot on the same grounds. It was a proposal which would have permitted areas containing cities of 50,000 or more population to form metropolitan federations for essential area-wide services.

City Voting Seen Heavy In Forenoon

Spot Check Shows 2,328 In By Noon With 1,677 In '57

East Liverpool recorded an unusually heavy forenoon vote estimated at 2,328 today as it went to the polls to name new municipal officials. The turnout was up 651 from the 1,677 ballots cast before noon in the last comparable municipal election in 1957.

Election observers said the gain in morning voter turnout could be attributed to either or both of two factors — a ground swell of opinon two or three vital races or the fact that several thousand striking steel workers were able to vote earlier than usual.

A sampling of the forenoon vote in 8 of the city's 33 precincts showed gains in each. The largest increase was in Precinct B of the First Ward, which votes at a St. George St. home. It cast 83 forenoon votes today, compared with 61 two years ago, an increase of 22.

A gain of 16 was shown in another East End voting place and 2 precincts in the Second Ward showed increases of 18, compared with the 1957 forenoon turnout.

The vote actually cast in the 8 precincts this morning added up to 582, compared with 481 at the same time two years ago.

If the gain in the morning vote results from the fact many striking steelworkers were able to go to the polls early there will be no unusually large gain in the overall totals. The heavy morning vote simply will cut down on the normally high afternoon turnout that generally results just before and after shift changes at mills and potteries.

But the heavy vote could be stirred by interest in two races — the mayorality and the Municipal Court judgeships — and a referendum on a city income tax ordinance.

Columbiana County is expected to cast about 30,000 ballots today, including approximately 7,000 in East Liverpool. But for the forenoon vote here is a true criterion, the city vote could run closer to 8,000. In the November 1957 election, the county cast 28,003 ballots, including 6,587 in East Liverpool.

The city has 10,721 qualified for today's election.

Here's the turnout in the precincts sampled this morning, showing first the vote today and then the turnout at the same time in 1957: 1-B, 83 and 61; 1-C, 50 and 34; 2-A, 70 and 52; 2-B, 110 and 32; 2-E, 99 and 90; 3-C, 61 and 55; 4-C, 46 and 42; and 4-G, 63 and 55. Steel Strike Showdown

Hearings On Injunction Open Before High Court

Arguments Expected To Close Today

Federal Mediators Report No Progress In Pact Negotiations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court undertakes today to decide whether 500,000 striking steelworkers must return to work under court order.

At issue, in arguments before the court, was the validity of an injunction already issued under emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley labor law. It directs the workers to halt their strike during an 80-day cooling off period, but it doesn't become effective until the Supreme Court rules.

There was no firm indication how soon that would be. It was believed likely that legal arguments would be completed today, but no time limit was fixed. The court's ruling could come any time after the arguments end.

The court could, if it chose, announce its decision in a brief order without waiting to write a formal opinion. The opinion could be filed later.

Federal mediators met inconclusively Monday with both union and management negotiators and called further sessions for Wednesday. Chief Mediator Joseph F. Finnegan said he hadn't decided whether to arrange separate or joint meetings then. No sessions were scheduled today because of the court hearings.

President David J. McDonald of the Steelworkers Union said Monday's meetings made "absolutely no headway." R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, agreed he couldn't point to any new sign of progress.

Economic effects of the strike increased. The Labor department reported Monday that strike-induced idleness has spread to 337,000 workers in industries dependent on steel, in addition to the 500,000 strikers themselves. It said layoffs will increase more sharply this month.

It has been more than three weeks since President Eisenhower on Oct. 9 declared the strike a national emergency and invoked the Taft-Hartley law. A fact-finding board he named tried unsuccessfully to mediate the dispute but, under terms of the law, made no recommendations for settlement in its report to Eisenhower on Oct. 19.

Board Tables Tightening Of 'Shots' Policy

Immunization Plan May Be Discussed At Meeting Nov. 16

New legislation to tighten the immunization and vaccination requirements for school children was tabled Monday night by the Board of Education until the meeting Nov. 16.

Board members agreed new legislation will be enacted to protect children against polio, tetanus, pertussis (whooping cough), smallpox and diphtheria but were unable to reach agreement on what grounds children would be excused.

The board decided to postpone the effective date of any new policy until the beginning of the 1960 term next September.

Members also agreed any child would be excused on a statement from the family physician indicating the child might react to any of the immunizations.

However, two members—James Lowe and Samuel W. Brown—indicated they will oppose any move to excuse children on religious grounds.

Under a former resolution before the new state law was passed, only smallpox and diphtheria were required but children could be excused on religious grounds.

The discussion of the immunization requirement was prompted by an opinion from Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, who ruled a new law

Moldmakers End Walkout; Get Pay Hike

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The long strike of some 2,000 moldmakers across the country has ended with the signing of a 22-month contract by the American Flint Glass Workers Union and the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute.

The agreement was reached Monday. It ended a 51-day walkout begun Sept. 13 and affecting 81 glass plants.

Charles Scheff, union president, said the new contract provides an average 26.2 cents-an-hour wage boost for all moldmakers over the 22-month period.

Moldmakers will average an 8-cent-an-hour wage boost the first 11 months of the contract and 8½-cent-an-hour the second 11 months of the pact, said Scheff.

With fringe benefits included, Scheff continued, the moldmakers will average 13.7 cents hourly increase the first half of the contract and 12.5 cents the second half.

Under the old agreement, moldmakers made between $2.56 and $3.09 an hour.

Federal Mediator William Rose said that other contract stipulations included settlement of all grievances by binding arbitration. This is what management had been seeking. The union wanted to have grievances held for settlement until negotiations for a new contract began, as was practiced under the old contract.

In turn, Rose said, industry agreed to allow present working conditions to continue at each of the 81 plants.

Rose said another contract change included adding Dec. 24 as a holiday with pay. It is the seventh such holiday in the contract.

Ladder, Hi-Fi Player Taken In 2 City Thefts

A high-fidelity record player valued at $100 and a five-foot step-ladder were stolen in two East Liverpool theft cases Monday, police were told.

William Copestick, 307 W. 3rd St., reported to police at 3:42 p. m. that the hi-fi set was stolen from his apartment sometime between Friday and Monday.

Hollis Logue of Densmore Ave., a painting contractor, told police two boys stole a ladder which he left in Crook Alley yesterday afternoon.

Slash In State Funds To Cut Teacher Hike

City Schools To Get $16,000 Less Than Had Been Estimated

Because of a reduction of $16,000 in the anticipated increase in state foundation funds, a proposed salary boost for Board of Education employees will have to be refigured, Supt. Ralph W. Betts reported Monday night.

Betts told the board the State Department of Education has indicated city schools will receive $63,000 additional in state funds rather than $79,000 first anticipated.

Because of the decrease, hike in maximum salaries probably will be $250 rather than $300 with $200 increases in minimum salaries, the superintendent said.

Based on that figure and including raises for non-certificated personnel and additional retirement payments, the increases would cost $63,670, the superintendent said. He estimated the wage hikes for teachers would total $52,400 with $5,800 for retirement payments and $5,670 in raises for other personnel.

Although the additional state funds are based on figures supplied by the State Department of Education, it still is not a commitment, Betts explained.

Any salary increase adopted would have to be approved conditionally, pending official commitment from the State Education Department, which is due in January, Betts continued.

The $16,000 decrease in additional state funds is the result of an increase in the tax duplicate in the school district, he said. Some of the loss will be regained in additional funds from tax collections, Betts explained.

The board approved an increase of $15 a month for Mrs. Edna Jones, school nurse, and Charles Desher, attendance officer, for use of their personal cars on school business. They previously received $50 a month.

Betts said an investigation last month showed mileage of 637 for one and 596 for the other, averaging 33 and 31 miles a day on school business. Based on last month's figure, it would amount to slightly less than 6 cents a mile.

The board also approved the rental of Westgate School to three (Turn to PAY RAISE, Page 9)

Proposed Sale Is Protested

100 Farmers Told County To Keep Home Dairy Herd

Two of the three Columbiana County commissioners said they did not plan to dispose of the dairy herd at the County Home when some 100 county dairy farmers assembled at the home Monday afternoon to protest the proposed sale of the cows.

Commissioners R. Max Gard and Walter Hunston told the farmers they would not vote in favor of disposing of the herd, while Commissioner Frank Wilson, declaring "I'm not a farmer," said he had not yet made a decision on the matter.

The farmers' "march" on the commissioners' meeting at the County Home stemmed from reports filed by the county Board of Visitation and by sanitarians concerning conditions at the home. Lack of adequate milk handling facilities were scored in the reports, and there had been recommendations the home purchase pasteurized milk instead of utilizing the raw milk of the dairy herd. The commissioners Friday authorized purchase of milk from the Select Dairies of Alliance.

The farmers protested any sale of the herd, declaring the purchase of handling equipment for a small sum would enable the home to use the milk of the county herd which they said was "good and accredited."

E. U. Whitacre of the Salem-Lisbon Rd. said he has visited the home and does not feel the equipment at the milk house is as bad "as painted in the papers or in the reports of the sanitarians."

Polio Clinic Scheduled In Wellsville Schools

Supt. S. E. Daw of Wellsville announced today arrangements have been completed for a polio clinic for all school children needing the shots.

The first shots will be administered Nov. 12 and the second will be given Dec. 10. The clinic will be conducted at MacDonald School from 9 to 11:15 a. m. each day, he said.

Transportation will be furnished for children from McKinley and Garfield Schools. Students at Fairview School at Hillcrest already have received their shots.

The clinic will be conducted by Dr. Gustave Peller, city health commissioner, and Mrs. Jennie Calhoun, school nurse.

Helped On TV Quiz, Cugat Tells Probers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Orchestra leader Xavier Cugat told congressional probers today he received advance help as a contestant on "The $64,000 Challenge" TV quiz program.

Cugat was the leadoff witness at today's session of House subcommittee hearings, which have exposed rigging of once top-rated quiz programs.

He said he appeared on the program starting in June 1958 for publicity purposes, but "nobody told me in advance that I was going to win any particular amount of money or that I was going to win at all."

He actually won $16,000, he said, of which 10 per cent went to his publicity man who arranged the appearance, some went to his brother, some to Spanish and Italian orphanages, and "most of the balance went for taxes."

"I know I broke no law," he said. "I know I intended no injury to any person. I know that as an entertainer I am called upon all the time to make-believe, to help make a good show."

"I suppose the producers of 'The $64,000 Challenge' also wanted to make a better show, and so they made-believe, too. If there was too much make-believe, I (Turn to QUIZ, Page 3)

Mayor Reports To Council

No Liberal Mortgage Seen For Freeway's 'Displaced'

West End residents displaced by construction of the first stage of a city freeway do not qualify for liberal long-term mortgages for purchase of new homes, as is the case in some such projects, Mayor Fred P. Lawrence reported to Council Monday night.

The mayor said he gathered the information in inquiries to the Pittsburgh, Chicago and Washington offices of the Federal Housing Administration and the Housing and Home Finance Administration.

Both agencies advised that the liberal federal loans are available only to displaced families in communities that already have under way an urban renewal program or have presented what the agencies call a "city plan" or "workable program."

In areas that qualify, displaced home-owners are entitled to mortgage loans of 100 per cent for up to $9,000 at 5½ per cent interest, with 40 years in which to make repayment, the mayor said.

An undetermined number of West End and California Hollow families will be displaced, as the four-lane road scheduled for construction next year will cut a wide swath through their neighborhoods.

Stewart Quits School Board

Chester Man Named In Hancock Vacancy

The resignation of the senior member was accepted and a successor appointed at the meeting of the Hancock County Board of Education Monday night in New Cumberland High School.

R. G. (Bob) Stewart of the Lincoln Highway near Chester tendered his resignation after slightly over 20 years of service.

Supt. Robert H. Hall said that John W. Boyd, 928 Neptune Ave., Chester has been appointed to succeed Stewart.

Boyd is a clerk at the Potters Bank & Trust Co. in East Liverpool.

Stewart was appointed in 1939 to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of George Kimble when the late A. L. Rabenstein was superintendent of schools.

Supt. Hall said the board "accepted the resignation with much regret." Stewart left Monday to spend the winter in Florida.

The board also accepted the resignation of a veteran teacher—Miss Elizabeth Williamson — an elementary instructor at New Cumberland. Miss Williamson, a teacher for almost 50 years, resigned because of ill health, the board said.

Parking Lots Need $3,000

About $3,000 will be required to establish off-street parking on two city-owned lots at 3rd and Market Sts., Mayor Fred P. Lawrence told Council Monday night.

Following through on a project he announced about a month ago, the mayor asked Council to consider providing the funds, possibly at its next meeting Nov. 16. The expense will include 28 parking meters — 14 for each lot. At approximately $47.50 each, the meters would cost $1,500, he said.

The mayor said the city hopes to have the two lots in operation in time for the Christmas shopping rush. Although the city owns the lots on all four corners of the intersection, first plans call for establishment of parking only on the two tracts north of 3rd St.

In other business, the mayor reminded Council that the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. will cease maintenance of police radio equipment Dec. 31 as a result of a recent ruling of the Federal Communications Commission.

Two other concerns have indicated they are interested in bidding on the work, he said. For several years, the telephone company has furnished and maintained equipment for the police radio system.

Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper advised Council the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. has asked $350 to grant an easement under its Horn Switch tracks near Westgate School for relocation of the Carpenters Run sanitary sewer. When Council indicated it will approve, the solicitor said he will present enabling legislation at the meeting Nov. 16.

The meeting opened with invocation by Councilman W. E. Kaiser.

Churches Set Union Service For Wellsville

Plans for union Thanksgiving services and a religious survey were outlined at a meeting of the Wellsville Ministerial Association Monday morning.

The union service will be held Nov. 26 at 10 a. m. at the Riverside United Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Clark Allison of the Church of the Nazarene will be principal speaker.

The Rev. Philip Fletcher, host pastor, will make the other assignments. The association voted to provide envelopes for the CROP (Christian Rural Overseas Program) offering to be taken during the service. The pastors also voted to distribute a Bible reading guide for the Thanksgiving - Christmas season at the service. The guides are provided by the American Bible Society.

A report was heard from the religious survey committee headed by Rev. Allison. It will be conducted in Wellsville and the surrounding area the afternoon of Sunday, Nov. 22. Volunteer workers from 4 rural churches and 8 city churches will canvass the area.

The pastors held breakfast at McGeehan's Restaurant and then conducted the business session at the Central Federal Savings & Loan Association Building.

Schedules for various activities were reviewed. The pastors visit to rest homes, open City Council meetings with prayer, conduct the opening exercises at the high school and junior high school on Friday mornings over the public address system, participate in broadcasts over WOHI and assist in chaplain service at City Hospital.

The Rev. Richard Beidler, president, presided. Election of officers was scheduled, but was postponed until the next meeting Dec. 7.

Turkey, Ham Supper Planned At Fairfield

A turkey and ham supper, along with a bazaar, will be sponsored at the Fairfield-Waterford High School Nov. 14 by the East Fairfield Methodist Church.

Supper will be served from 5 to 7 p. m. at the gym, and miscellaneous homemade articles and baked goods will be on sale. Tickets are available from Mrs. George Schmidt or Mrs. Don Adams. Proceeds will be used for the church building fund.

Allotment Is Accepted By St. Clair Trustees

St. Clair Township trustees Monday night authorized acceptance of a section of Rolling Hills Allotment presented by George Bloomgren and Charles Couts.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Pomeroy are owners of the allotment, which lies north of Casting Club Rd. to Calcutta. The section includes Berkshire Rd., an extension of Thompson Rd.

Permission was granted to the Ohio Valley Gas Co. to excavate on Franklin St. in the Sub-station for a gas line. Police Constable Clarence Blosser filed an application for re-appointment Jan. 1.

144 Psychologists Take Part

Ohio's School Psychology Program Helping 40,000

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Nearly 40,000 children will be helped this year by Ohio's growing school psychology program.

A survey of school districts shows that 144 psychologists are working this year with Ohio's teachers and administrators to help all types of youngsters get an adequate education.

Last year, Ohio had only 119 school psychologists, who gave personal attention to 36,579 retarded, slow, handicapped or problem children.

The effectiveness of the program is reflected in the comments of school principals. Ray Horn, director of the State Education Department's special education division, said today that in 1940 only 25 per cent of school administrators thought a school psychologist was worth anything. In 1949, he said, 99 per cent of the administrators questioned thought all schools should have the services of at least one.

At present, 61 of Ohio's city school districts have at least one psychologist on the payroll. Eleven of Ohio's 88 counties have hired at least one. Salaries usually are paid by the local board of education, which also hires the psychologist.

Horn said local education boards are "barely able to meet replacement needs" when it comes to hiring new psychologists. The demand is big and getting bigger.

One problem is getting college students interested in the field. The average salary last year was $7,000, and heads of district psychological staffs averaged about $8,800, Horn said. All of this money comes from in-state taxes of one type or another.

Horn emphasized that the federal government offers no direct financial support to the program.

Besides working with problem children, psychologists also guide partially deaf, blind, crippled, slow-learning and speech-handicapped youngsters. They work closely with teachers on a multitude of schoolroom problems. They sometimes counsel parents. The latest Ohio survey indicates 10,954 parent conferences were conducted.

Diver Searches River Bottom In Probe Of Looting By Police

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A special investigator searched a river bottom in a diving suit as a new step in a probe of looting by members of the Columbus police department.

Nine officers have been arrested and Police Chief George W. Scholer said "still more officers may be involved."

Police Lt. Alfred Lashley, a special investigator for Safety Director Leo L. Phillips, recovered what he said are three stolen appliances from the bottom of the Scioto River Monday using a diving suit. A shotgun was found in about 30 feet of water at nearby Hoover Dam Reservoir.

Officials filed burglary and grand larceny charges against Sgt. James S. Faris, 47, highest-ranking department member to be arrested and a 17-year veteran on the force. He is free under $10,000 bond and scheduled to appear in municipal court Wednesday.

Three policemen entered pleas of innocent in Municipal Court Monday. They are patrolmen Edward F. Mulholland, 32, charged with petit larceny; William E.

Clifford, 34, and William B. Russell, 29, charged with burglary and grand larceny.

Patrolman Richard O. Headlee, 33, was arrested Sunday night and held for investigation with patrolmen Robert E. Horch, Charles R. Haapala and Lawrence M. McNulty, all 29, arrested earlier.

Latest to be arrested was patrolman Raymond E. McKnight, 24, booked Monday night for investigation. Deputy Inspector Harvey List said McKnight, off duty on disability after injury in an accident 18 months ago, may be charged with a minor offense today. List said McKnight's involvement "seems minor," consisting largely of "knowledge he didn't report."

Articles collected by investigators during the probe include quantities of floor tile, camera equipment, garden tools and the like. Investigators said the articles may be worth several thousand dollars.

Reports that merchandise disappeared during burglary investigations set off the intra-department probe.

Indian Artifacts Shown Explorers

Three cases of Indian artifacts were displayed by Ray Simoni of Smiths Ferry at a meeting of the Aboriginal Explorers Club at his home Monday night.

Simoni also displayed an Indian skeleton he found this summer near Yellow Creek. Harry R. Cline, Harry M. Cline and Harold A. Dawson reported on a field trip to Flint Ridge. They visited Indian camp sites and found many pieces of flint tools.

They also visited a stone fort built in 1648 by a Frenchman for protection from raiding bands. The trio said they also surface collected along the banks of the Tuscarawas River.

James Monte showed artifacts found in the West Virginia Panhandle area. They were from the Archaic to late Prehistoric times. James Woodrow was complimented for his work in excavating a rock shelter.

He has discovered many bone beads, awls, effigies, flaking tools and a wide variety of flint points.

Richard S. Thompson reported on two books on the Ohio River region. A discussion followed. One book covers an Indian camp of Half King, a chieftain, on Little Beaver Creek.

The next meeting will be Nov. 16 with William B. Patterson of East Liverpool.

Lisbon Awaits Choir Nov. 22

LISBON — The St. Paul's Episcopal Boys' and Men's Choir of Canton, which is slated to visit Lisbon on Sunday, Nov. 22, is under the direction of Martin Alexander, who represents a mixture of experience, education and talent.

At present, Alexander is teaching at Hoover High School in North Canton and is choral conductor and assistant conductor for the Canton Civic Opera Association in addition to being organist and choirmaster at St. Paul's.

Born in Detroit in 1913, Alexander attended Canton grade schools and was graduated from McKinley High School in 1931. It was in these early depression days that he worked as a service station attendant during the day and played piano with dance bands at night. Later, he worked at Republic Steel Corp.

In 1934, he had accumulated enough savings to enroll at Ohio University. He worked as organist in a hotel coffee shop, played in college dance bands and directed the choir at the Presbyterian Church in Nelsonville to defray expenses.

He married the former Faye Lantz, a teacher at Worley School, in 1937. When university jobs failed to support him and his wife, he left school to travel the dance band circuit again. This included a season as solo organist at Chautauque, N. Y., in 1938.

In November 1939, he became associated with WHBC radio in Canton as organist, production manager, and musical director.

His association with St. Paul's Choir began as a boy singer. He accepted directorship in 1941.

The St. Paul's choir is scheduled at Lisbon High School Auditorium sponsored by the Trinity Episcopal Church.

Woman Hurt In Crash Still In Fair Condition

Mrs. Rosemary Fitch, 41, of Salineville, wife of Stanley Fitch, Salineville Democratic mayoral candidate, remains in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with injuries received in a two-car crash Friday morning on Route 164 about a mile south of Salineville.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol said Mrs. Fitch's 1959 hard-top coupe smashed into the rear of a car driven by James E. Coughen, 38, of Sycamore Ave., Salineville.

Officers said Coughen was traveling at a low rate of speed. Mrs. Fitch came over the crest of a hill and applied the brakes, causing the car to go out of control. The vehicle then struck a bank and turned around, going into Coughen's car backwards, officers said.

The Fitch car was demolished. Slight damage resulted to Coughen's car. Mrs. Fitch suffered back, internal and hip injuries. The patrol said the accident still is under investigation.

wish you could do something about it without giving entertainment too much of a black eye."

Cugat joined the parade of witnesses before the House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight in its expose of coaching, rigging and conniving on television quizzes.

Charles Van Doren, the boyish-appearing whiz on the program "Twenty-One," said Monday he was coached to $129,000 winnings. Cugat, his attorney by his side, read a prepared statement in the accent familiar to radio and television fans.

From three contestants Monday the investigating subcommittee received testimony that this show, and its companion The $64,000 Question, were more or less subtly rigged. Both were knocked off the air last year after allegations or rigging other shows became public.

Also on call today is Patty Duke, now 12, who won $16,000 on the "Challenge" and now is starring in the Broadway play "The Miracle Worker." Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark) said if she is heard, it will be behind closed doors.

Expecting to conclude hearings by Thursday noon, committee members already were talking about possible legislation to bar in the future any such deceitful practices as witnesses have imputed to several quiz shows.

Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif) said licensing of networks might be one approach. Rep. William L. Springer (R-Ill) said others might be to give the Federal Communications Commission more power over programming, or to fix federal standards for producers, with criminal penalties for violations.

The testimony about the $64,000 shows Monday came from the Rev. Charles E. "Stoney" Jackson Jr. of Tullahoma, Tenn., a crew-cut young minister, and Arthur Cohn Jr., a New York advertising salesman.

Jackson appeared on both programs, winning a total of $20,000. Cohn said he rejected, as "dirty money," a $250 consolation prize tendered him on the "Challenge" program after he discovered coaching.

The subcommittee put into the record a sworn statement by Wilton J. Springer, New York salesman, who opposed Cohn on the "Challenge." Springer is recuperating from a heart attack.

The gist of all their testimony was that personnel of the show, without getting contestants to agree to rigging, nevertheless influenced the outcome by "screening" sessions.

Civil Defense police will start 24-hour guard duty at the building Wednesday morning, Zehnder said.

In other business, the board approved sale of Christmas trees as a fund raising project. The trees will go on sale a week before Christmas, according to William Sutherland, chairman. The trees will be displayed at the A. & P. Super-market parking lot.

Sidney C. Porter Jr. reported more than 25 couples attended the Halloween dance Friday night at the Boots & Saddle Club. He also reported on the "Toys - for - Tots" program. Hales said the annual teenage bowling league sponsored by the Jaycees has been started. Ten teams of five boys each have started play at the Don-Bus Alley. The league will complete three rounds of play in April and then hold a "roll-off" for the championship. The Jaycees will provide trophies.

The next board meeting will be Dec. 7.

Policing Plans Aired By Calcutta Development Unit

The possibility of a fund-raising program for police protection in the St. Clair Township area was discussed by the Calcutta Area Development Association at a meeting Monday night at the Calcutta fire station.

The earliest possible date funds could be realized from a regular election would be Jan. 1, 1961, it was reported.

Members discussed having a police levy submitted in the May 1960 primary, but indicated plans should be made for providing funds sooner.

Taken under study were proposals for a solicitation of funds in the township, recommendation for a special election and utilization of some of the general fund.

The termination of the constable system with fee payments throughout the state has left townships with the problem of providing police officers with salaries.

William Black discussed plans for a grid numbering program for St. Clair and Liverpool Townships. Black reported the Stark County method.

A nominating committee reported on a slate of officers for election at the next meeting Dec. 7. Plans were also made for a membership drive. About 17 attended.

Chester Man Suffers Burn

A 21-year-old Chester service station attendant, escaped serious injury when some gasoline on his clothes ignited as he lit a cigarette at work Monday afternoon. He was treated at City Hospital where three other area residents were treated yesterday after separate mishaps.

Thomas E. Miller, 228 California Ave., Chester, suffered second degree burns of the right thigh and right hand when the gasoline ignited at his father's service station in Newell.

Miller apparently was splashed by the fluid when he serviced an auto about 10 minutes earlier, the family said. While inside the service station, he lit a cigarette, and the clothing caught fire.

As others nearby brushed the flames away from his face, and tried to smother the fire Wally Simcox of Newell, also an employee, obtained a fire extinguisher and quelled the blaze.

Mrs. Eva Proctor of Midland Heights was treated last night for a possible fracture of the right hand suffered when caught in a closing car door.

Jan Davis, 20, of 515 Monroe St. was treated for a laceration of the thumb also suffered in a car door mishap.

John Bemis, 15, of 1730 Clark Ave., Wellsville, received an injury of the right knee while playing football.

Resigns Post At Columbia U.

Van Doren Faces Future Clouded By TV Quiz Fix

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles Van Doren, out of one job and suspended from another, faced today a future clouded by his story of deceiving the public on a rigged television quiz show.

Within hours of his public testimony, Columbia University accepted Van Doren's offer to resign as an assistant professor of English. The action by the university's board of trustees was made effective immediately.

The National Broadcasting Co., which suspended Van Doren with pay last month from a $50,000-a-year post as commentator, said it was withholding comment. The suspension was subject to the outcome of the congressional hearings.

Van Doren himself was uncertain of his future plans.

"I hope to be a teacher," he told newsmen. "I think I would be better at that than anything else."

To some extent, at least, Van Doren's future may depend on public reaction to his emotion-packed story of accepting help while winning fame as a scholar on NBC's onetime quiz show "Twenty-One."

"I was involved, deeply involved, in a deception," he told the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee Monday. He added at another point that "I would give almost anything I have to reverse the course of my life in the last three years."

The immediate reaction was mixed. Some of the committee members praised his action in telling the truth at last, and urged that his employers wait for public reaction before making any decision.

The one public interruption during the hearing was hostile. The caustic remark by Rep. Steven B. Derouman (R-NY) that an intelligent adult shouldn't be praised for telling the truth brought a burst of applause.

Yet as the boyish-faced, wavy-haired Van Doren left the hearing room, spectators fought their way through the mass of reporters to reach his side, shake his hand, wish him well.

CINCINNATI (AP)—A train and a truck collided at a Norfolk & Western Railroad crossing in near-by Newton Monday night, killing the truck driver, James Hilton, 30, of Cincinnati. Hilton's pet dog, with him on the front seat of the auto tow truck, was also killed.

vicinity of City Hospital — also are expected to be affected.

Mayor Lawrence told Council he pursued the question all the way to the Washington offices of the agencies in the hope liberal loans would be guaranteed to allow displaced families to buy existing homes or build new ones.

In an urban renewal program, a city sets aside a section of ground for other uses — generally industrial or highway — which clears the way for displaced families to acquire new homes with low-cost, long-term loans.

"That's another way in which we are suffering for lack of a future program," the mayor concluded. "We will keep in touch with the agencies in hope something develops that will change the situation to East Liverpool's benefit."

Rules On Gas Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas Gas Transmission Corp. of Owensboro, Ky., which raised its prices 0.41 cents per thousand cubic feet 13 months ago, can collect 0.38 cents per thousand, the Federal Power Commission has ruled. Texas Gas, which has utility customers in Ohio and seven other states, thus gets the major part of a $1.254,000 annual rate increase it has been collecting subject to possible refund.

Another Deadlock In The Making?

In the short course on union-management negotiations which all of us are taking against our will this year, the lesson taught by the steel deadlock apparently is going to be repeated in railroading.

Here again, management is asking for more latitude in running its business. It wants operating unions in railroading to consent to changes in work rules, to reflect technological changes in railroading itself.

This is essentially the demand made by the steel companies in their common-front negotiations; that they be allowed to run their business free from union rules that inflict unnecessary costs.

The union attitude in railroading apparently is a repetition of the union attitude in steel. Management is being treated as if it had committed an impudent act for suggesting that business survival depends on efficiency.

There is no hint of reconciliation in unionism's attitude — no suggestion of reaching a quid-pro-quo agreement on an issue of survival. Even though eastern railroads are in hard financial circumstances, the unions whose own survival depends on the survival of the railroads are not willing to admit that uneconomic work rules might need to be studied.

AS IN STEEL, where the union flatly turned down management's proposal for submitting proposed changes to arbitration before they could be put into effect, railroad management and the rail unions are high-balling into a deadlock situation that could paralyze railroad service early next spring.

There is the further possibility that union lawyers might tie up the machinery of railroad negotiation. It was the model for the injunction machinery of the Taft-Hartley Act to break deadlocks. If one were to be ruled unconstitutional, the other would seem to be unconstitutional, too.

Everybody can agree that the country is witnessing a turning point in mid-20th-century industrialism. The United States has been put at a serious disadvantage by the productivity and physical energy of competitors. Management in every field is trying to meet and beat the competition.

But management can only do this in heavily unionized enterprise with the consent of the union leadership to which it has forfeited and surrendered much of the authority it once used and abused to suit itself.

SOME OF THE abuses furnished the spark that lit the fire under unionism. But the uses gave the United States the highest rate of productivity and efficiency to be found anywhere in the world. U.S. management gave U.S. workers their high standard of living.

The competition is coming up fast. Steel has been hurt by low-cost foreign production. Railroading has been crippled needlessly by policies that can be described only as stupid, where they were not shortsighted and even, in some instances, vicious and vindictive.

Management is fighting for the right to manage. The right has been trimmed to the disappearing point if management cannot take advantage of what it knows to be efficient, instead of having inefficiency enforced on it by rules and sanctions for the benefit of individuals claiming the protection of unions.

No one wants to see individuals ruined because technology has changed the circumstances of their employment. There are ways to salvage individuals without scuttling the sources of the wealth that makes U.S. workers the best paid and the best protected in the world.

It's Easy To Pull One Apart, But . . .

Hoffa Aims Drive At Probe Figures

By Victor Riesel

Time had to be ripped out of covering the steel crisis so I could go after the story of the drive by some unions to rip members of the anti-racket committee right out of the Senate.

First, it can now be confirmed that the drive is being coordinated by Jimmy Hoffa. Secondly, the most active unions in the campaign are those most actively investigated by the Senate Select Committee.

Jimmy Hoffa, being toughest, is taking on the biggest. This is obvious from what he has told those who sat with him in a series of recent secret meetings.

Hoffa held one session over in Denver last Tuesday and he was in San Francisco over the weekend of Oct. 17.

In that truly closely guarded get-together on the West Coast, for example, Hoffa told his people that he plans to drive Senators John Kennedy and John McClellan from public office.

JUST TO MAKE IT all-inclusive, Hoffa also told the private war council that he planned to purge Congressman Jeffrey Cohelan — who, as secretary-treasurer of a San Francisco Bay area milk wagon drivers union, has fought Jimmy-boy. He's one man Hoffa fears.

Part of Hoffa's mission in San Francisco was to start his boys working against Cohelan as well as to brief them on his plans to purge Kennedy and McClellan.

Hoffa told his men to start whipping up sentiment in political circles against Kennedy as a possible presidential candidate—and to back up their agitation with political contributions wherever anyone will take them.

He also boasted that he is organizing his people in Arkansas as well as McClellan. The crusading Senator's term expires at the end of 1960.

Among the others Hoffa talks of purging is the Republican senator from Nebraska, Carl Curtis, who must also run for re-election next year.

It is Curtis who pushed hardest for what hurt the Teamsters most — the ban on secondary boycotts and recognition picketing.

CURTIS FIRST introduced a bill on these crackling issues in May 1956. He was defeated. He came back in the following Congress and tried to tie the ban to the Kennedy-Ives bill. He was defeated.

He tried again when the Kennedy-Ervin bill was passed in the Senate earlier this year. He was defeated.

But when the new law was passed, it contained his ban on secondary boycotts and recognition picketing.

During most of these years Curtis attended every session of the McClellan committee racket busting hearings.

Now, almost a full year in advance of the next senatorial election here, the Teamsters already are quietly organizing to defeat Sen. Curtis.

It may be coincidence that all Nebraska Teamsters locals voted for Hoffa at the last Teamsters convention. It may be coincidence but it isn't. Some of these locals are under trusteeship of Jim Hoffa's Central Conference of Teamsters.

IN ADDITION to Hoffa's new Political Action Department, the opposition to the senator is dynamo-ed by the International Union of Operating Engineers.

The Operating Engineers Union here is an affiliate of the international outfit which was disclosed by Robert Kennedy as the supplier of private yachts, aircraft and lush limousines for some of its leaders.

I've been searching the record for indignant statements from local Operating Engineers officials against the national leaders who looted the treasury. I find none. Yet this is the union which has what it calls political "shock troops" to throw into the campaign against Sen. Curtis.

Now that we've spotlighted the big purge plans, we can go back to the steel front.

Fun For Sale

By Truman Twill

There's a word combination I keep hearing that impresses me as the nth degree of 20th-century frankness.

The combination puts the noun "fun" in front of other nouns to denote that so and so was or is going to be a special occasion. Thus: It was a fun-party, a fun-flight, a fun-place to eat, a fun-ride, a fun-picnic etc.

At first I thought this was an accidental phrase in some conversations I had overheard. But when it began to appear in advertising, I knew the wordsmiths had a new twist. I hope they carry it through.

I hope they don't stop at accenting the positive. If one kind of party is going to be called a "fun-party," then there is another kind of party that should be called a "no-fun party."

By the same token, if some airplane flights are arranged with the idea of having fun in transit, some flights are obviously devoid of fun-producing arrangements and should be so designated. This kind of honesty should be carried to the limit.

In that event, there even would be two kinds of people, as in fact there always have been two kinds, though not acknowledged.

There would be "fun" people and "no-fun people."

Once this had been made plain, it might turn out that some of the latter would figure out what was to blame for their being classified that way and try to change their category.

It never has been talked about in a country where work is supposed to be worth the doing for its own sake, but there are "fun-jobs" and "no-fun-jobs." One of the things that has made trouble in the industrial area is a multiplicity of "no-fun jobs" that must be performed by millions of bored workers who become resentful of the manner in which meaning has been taken out of their lives by meaningless monotony.

This is beginning to be important in the way employers who need employees badly enough to make an all-out appeal for help.

They do not stress pay alone. They admit materialism isn't everything. They mention such intangibles as congeniality and decor. They refer to the satisfaction of working with people who give them the feeling of being on the team and have a little fun while working.

The idea has possibilities that will shock some old-timers who think life had to be grim and earnest or it wasn't worth the effort. If it is going to be admitted that fun can be put into all kinds of things formerly devoid of fun and that this can be done profitably, a revolution is in progress.

Fun will have been made saleable outside amusement parks and theaters.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — In recognition of their continued membership extending more than a quarter of a century, 10 members of Diamond Council, Junior Order of United American Mechanics, were given gold pins.

Sweeping the four wards and 17 of the city's 23 precincts, Mayor Benedum, Democrat, was named for his third consecutive term, defeating Robert B. Stevenson, Republican, by 480 votes.

Small rooms without lights and without ventilation are occupied by from one to four people. Toilets on upper floors have no water and cannot be flushed except with pails of water, and toilets do not even have seats. There are not sufficient bathing facilities. The kitchen is hopelessly inadequate with no modern equipment of any kind — no toaster, no mixer, no dishwasher.

Food storage space and refrigeration are inadequate. The reservoir is not protected in any way to keep out surface water and other contamination. The sewage disposal system is below state standards and flows directly into a small creek. The building is a fire trap with no sprinkler system and an old hazardous fire escape. A fire could be disastrous.

If ever a cause deserved the whole-hearted support of the voters of Columbiana County, this is it. We urge them to vote for the County Home Bond Issue.

McKinley On Trade

By David Lawrence

Reciprocal Trade Works Two Ways

It is often said that "history repeats itself," which may be only another way of saying that unsolved problems bob up again and again.

Thus today the important talk among the free governments of the world is about the removal of trade restrictions and barriers to commerce.

The United States is losing gold because much money is being sent abroad for foreign aid while the other countries aren't buying enough goods from America.

This has led to a "Buy American" crusade and it is being suggested that money appropriated for foreign aid be spent largely in the United States for goods needed by the beneficiaries of the program.

Already also many companies in this country that make steel and machine tools are complaining about tariffs' being too low.

Likewise, the AFL-CIO is being urged to go back to the policies of the late Samuel Gompers, who founded the American Federation of Labor and who for years backed a platform of protective tariffs.

STEEL UNIONS today know that imported steel is coming in to the United States at low prices because of cheaper labor abroad and this threatens to deprive American workers of jobs.

What is conservatism and what is liberalism in such controversies? Too often history is ignored by the younger generations and maybe that's why today a favorite cliché of many who regard themselves as liberals is to characterize any conservative with whom they disagree as being "to the right of McKinley."

This implies that McKinley was the archconservative of conservatism when the truth is he was one of the first to fight against isolationism and in favor of reciprocity in world trades which is nowadays supposed to be liberal doctrine.

There happens to be a book, just off the presses, entitled "In the Days of McKinley," written by the noted author, Margaret Leech, which has in it a passage referring to the significant speech delivered by President McKinley at Buffalo, N. Y., the day before he was assassinated in September 1901. It reads:

"Two themes were interwoven in the President's forcible recommendations of a broad and enlightened policy of commercial reciprocity: The unity of the modern world and the 'almost appalling' prosperity of the United States."

"Distance, he reminded his hearers, has been effaced by the telegraph and cable, by swift ships and fast trains."

"A larger share of the world's business was the urgent need of an enormous and diversified production that far exceeded the demands of home consumption.

"No narrow, sordid policy would subserve this vast and intricate business."

"He said: 'We must not repose in fancied security that we can forever sell everything and buy little or nothing.'"

"Reciprocity treaties were in harmony with the spirit of the times; Measures of retaliation were not."

"In phrase after ringing emphatic phrase, the President pointed to the trend of the future: 'Isolation is no longer possible or desirable. . . God and man have linked the nations together. . . the period of exclusiveness is past.'"

THESE SAME WORDS could well have been used last week by the undersecretary of state, Douglas Dillon, as he was telling an international gathering that restrictions on American trade imposed by foreign countries—which means quotas and other limitations on American exports — ought to be reduced or removed.

While the dollar situation is not acute, American officials see the importance of beginning now to agitate for a reversal of the unfavorable trend in our foreign trade.

Other nations which have been helped by America's post-war program are sufficiently strong now to let their peoples buy more from the United States.

If our export trade increases, foreign countries will have to use up some of the gold they have on deposit here and the United States will not be sending as much gold abroad as heretofore. This would be healthier all around.

It is important for foreign countries to note that American officials have started the debate about foreign trade restrictions not a moment too soon.

There is building up inside the United States quite a substantial sentiment in favor of restoring some of the tariffs that were reduced or eliminated when the reciprocal trade movement got its real momentum under Cordell Hull, secretary of state in the administration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

THE WHOLE PROBLEM or reciprocity in world trade is the same in principle as it was nearly 60 years ago but there has never been anything more persuasive said by any present-day exponent of increased foreign trade than the words of President McKinley:

"We must not repose in fancied security that we can forever sell everything and buy little or nothing."

Today, however, the shoe is on the other foot and strangely enough the above quotation now might better be sponsored by most of the other governments of the world in respect to their own policies.

They will have to import more goods from the United States if a balance of trade is to be attained that is healthy for all concerned.

The Van Doren Case

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Charles Van Doren, who got fame and fortune by taking credit for knowing more than he knew, finally decided on honesty as the best policy — for non-intellectual reasons.

In the end this may be the source of the bitterest remorse for this 33-year old ex-teacher who had preached the glories of the intellectual life. Columbia University accepted his resignation Monday.

Van Doren stressed the mental tortures he endured before deciding to admit he got help in winning $129,000 on the rigged TV quiz show, "Twenty-One."

Actually, he lied as long as he could expect to get away with it. He arrived at his moment of truth only after he knew he faced possible prosecution for perjury if he kept on lying.

He didn't say this. He explained Monday to a congressional committee investigating crooked TV quiz shows that "in the end it was a small thing that tipped the scales" in inducing him to own up to his deceit.

He said a woman, a stranger, wrote and told him that the only way he could ever live with himself was to tell the truth. It doesn't speak well for his intellectual processes to say this aphorism tipped the scales for him.

Van Doren grew up in a cultured, intellectual world, a member of one of America's best-known literary families. He had been exposed for years to philosophical discussions of truth.

The idea of telling the truth because you have to live with yourself is at least as old as Socrates.

When he appeared on "Twenty-One" he put on a great act of struggling to come up with answers to the questions asked him. He admits now he received 80 per cent of the answers before he appeared on the air.

He told the committee one of the reasons he accepted the answers — from Albert Freedman, producer of the show — was that Freedman told him: "That by appearing on a nationally televised program I would be doing a great service to the intellectual life, to teachers and to education in general by increasing public respect for the world of the mind through my performance."

What he convined in was actually a betrayal of the intellect, a fact he admits now, for he told the committee "I think I have done a dis-service" to the world of the mind and public respect for it.

Van Doren said he and Freedman both agreed, when a New York grand jury began investigating "Twenty-One," that they would deny any wrongdoing. Both did. Later Freedman was indicted for lying.

Still later, Van Doren said, he learned Freedman had gone back, changed his story to the grand jury, and implicated him. It was after this and after the congressional committee called him in that Van Doren caved in.

He went to the New York district attorney and admitted he had not told the grand jury the truth. He faced a possible perjury indictment if he didn't. He still faces that possibility.

But if he came down and lied to the congressional committee, and the government could prove it, he faced a charge and trial for perjury here, too.

His testimony ended a three-year period of deceit. Why did it happen? True, Van Doren succumbed to the lure of fame and money. But why did this happen to a man with his family, educational and ethical background?

Perhaps Van Doren himself still doesn't understand. His own statement to the committee was moralistic and remorseful. But it wasn't analytical.

Hancock Buys Dog Pen Land

Hancock County commissioners Monday authorized purchase of a plot of ground between New Cumberland and Weirton as a site for construction of a county dog pound.

Meeting in the Courthouse in New Cumberland, the 3 commissioners allotted $750 for purchase of the plot. In a budget adopted earlier this year, commissioners earmarked $8,000 for construction of the pen.

Feasibility of reappraisal of property in the county was discussed with commissioners by Ed Supplee, county assessor. Supplee also reported on a recent meeting in Wheeling for West Virginia assessors, county sheriff's and clerks in various offices.

Action was deferred until the meeting Dec. 1 for making appointments of commissioners of accounts. Several members of the County Bar Association discussed possible appointments.

Applications of renewal for notaries public were approved for Atty. A. J. Rosenshine Weirton and Norma Virtue of New Cumberland. Charles Greco of Weirton was approved as a notary.

The commissioners include William Graham of Chester, Lyle Virden of New Cumberland and Dave N. Thomas of Weirton.

$8,000 Bond Payment Set

EAST PALESTINE — An $8,000 payment on bonds for the new City Hall authorized by Council Monday night leaves only $35,000 due on the structure, for which a 1-mill levy was passed for 10 years in 1954.

It was reported $35,000 remains to be paid on the $300,000 bond issue passed four years ago for a new turbine at the municipal light plant. A 10 per cent down payment placed in escrow at an Akron bank, plus interest on the payment, will provide enough money to pay off the issue in April.

Total indebtedness of the city currently stands at $70,000 which includes the funds available at Akron.

Council authorized the purchase of a $2,000 truck for the water department to replace a 1950 model. Approval was also given plans for construction of a concrete culvert over 180 feet of Sulphur Creek at the site of a proposed new shopping center on E. Taggart St.

Offers Made By State For School Tracts

The Board of Education took under advisement Monday night an offer from the State Highway Department for the purchase of two parcels of ground near Westgate School for the relocation of the Carpenter's Run sanitary trunk sewer and the proposed city freeway.

Board members were scheduled to meet at 4:30 this afternoon with City Engineer George S. Bloomgren for a first-hand look at the two small tracts for which a right-of-way representative for the department's Division 11 office at New Philadelphia offered $2,035.

The offer was received from Robert Short, who explained the state has agreed to attempt to secure property which will be required for both projects as a savings to the city. Land needed only for the sewer relocation must be acquired by the city, he explained.

Short said one parcel is almost 0.3 of an acre while the other, a triangular-shaped section, is only 0.008 of an acre. Both are on the east side of the building.

The larger tract has been appraised by a department appraiser at $1,495 for the ground and $400 for damages while the small section has been appraised at $40 with $100 for damages.

The appraisal was made within the last 10 days, Short explained. The appraisal was based on a rate of $5,000 an acre, the right-of-way engineer continued, but he emphasized the base rate was figured for the two parcels only and will not necessarily apply in any other right-of-way negotiations.

Prior to making the offer, Short explained the department will have to file a friendly court suit to acquire the ground even if the board and the department agree on the price.

State law prohibits the board from selling any property valued at over $600 without seeking offers at a public auction, he said.

Although other board property in the vicinity of the school is expected to be needed for the big W. 8th St. interchange, the department is not ready to begin acquiring right-of-way for the freeway, Short said. However, he indicated the acquisition is scheduled to begin soon.

After meeting with Bloomgren today, the board also is expected to confer with City Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper, who is the board's legal advisor.

Bloomgren said the city is pushing the Carpenter's Run sewer project because bids for the project already are being studied and the contract is expected to be let shortly. The contractor is scheduled to begin his work in the area near the school, he added.

In addition, the federal government is paying 30 per cent of the cost but its commitment is good only for the remainder of the year and work must get under way soon, Bloomgren said.

A suggestion advanced by Supt. Ralph W. Betts that the board give an easement to the city and retain title to the ground while discussing the price with the highway department also will be referred to the solicitor for a legal opinion.

Short was accompanied by Ralph Schwartz from the division's location and design section.

PTA In Pughtown Gives Street Light Work To Firemen

The Pughtown Parent-Teacher Association voted Monday night to relinquish its authority of operation of street lights in the community to the volunteer fire department.

The PTA for several years has collected $5 annually from each family to help pay for electricity costs. While agreeing to continue support of the electric bill, collection of funds will be completed in the future by volunteer firemen, it was decided.

In other business conducted by Mrs. Lester Hill, president, reports were presented and Principal R. O. Stevens of the elementary school announced a change in plans for observance of National Education Week.

Mrs. Lenora Rector reported on a PTA convention held in Morgantown which she attended as a delegate. Dr. W. Dale Williams of the Hancock County Board of Education also attended, she reported.

Stevens said observance of National Education Week Nov. 8-14 would be postponed in Pughtown until after pupils begin classes in a new elementary school now under construction. The school is expected to open early in January.

Mrs. Hill urged members to attend a County PTA Council meeting Nov. 23 at 7:30 in Mariand Heights School in Weirton.

Mrs. Gerald Jones, program chairman, screened two films on bird life and restoration of Williamsburg, Va. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Ralph Huff, Mrs. Dean Wern and Mrs. Earl Priest. The next meeting is Dec. 7.

Lions Club Bulb Sale Will Resume Tonight

The Lions Club will resume its annual door-to-door sale of light bulbs tonight after a good sale Monday night.

James Johnston, general chairman, said 250 bags of bulbs were sold last night, about half the number the club expects to sell to raise funds for its sight-saving charity.

Election

Lisbon County will close at 6:30 p. m.

New officials are being elected in cities, villages, townships and school districts. Voters also are acting upon 32 special questions and issues.

Because of the large number of candidates involved — more than 400 — and the long list of issues, returns tonight are expected to be comparatively late.

However, East Liverpool should know the unofficial final outcome of its mayoralty race and the income tax referendum within less than an hour after the polls close.

Following a long-standing custom, the Election Board made arrangements for a "flash" count of the mayoralty and income tax returns immediately after the voting ends. Precinct staffs will total the figures on the two and telephone them to the board's office. The mayoralty and income tax returns will be handled again in the usual order of the count.

Following instructions from Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, the board will tabulate countywide totals first on two proposed amendments to the State Constitution.

After making the "flash" count on the mayoralty and income tax, East Liverpool precincts will tabulate the "yes" and "no" vote on the two state issues and a proposed County Home bond issue and send the report to the board's office by messenger.

In the third count, the precinct staffs will make a tabulation of the city ballot — from mayor through ward councilmen — the Municipal Court judge race, the Board of Education ballot and local questions and issues, including City Hospital and incinerator department levies.

In the 1955 Municipal election, East Liverpool cast 1,506 forenoon ballots. Its total vote was 6,356 out of 8,962 qualified. The county vote was 28,894.

In the 1953 "off-year" election, the city cast 6,736 of the county's 26,675 ballots. East Liverpool cast about 1,803 forenoon ballots in the 1953 election.

In the 1951 municipal election, the city's vote totaled 7,771 and the county's turnout hit 23,139. That year, East Liverpool had cast 1,849 votes at noon.

Wellsville Reports 'Heavy' Forenoon Vote

A "heavy" vote was reported in the forenoon at Wellsville. The vote at the 1957 general election ranged from "normal" to "heavy."

Seven of the 11 precincts were checked and 6 reported the heavy turnout of voters. The seventh said it was "slow" but anticipated a heavier vote in the late afternoon.

Precincts reporting the heavy vote were 1-B, 72; 2-A, 56; 2-B, 62 and 19 absentee ballots; 4-A, 45; 4-C, 54, and 4-D, 35.

The "slow" precinct was 4-E, where only 20 had turned out.

Heavier Balloting Seen In Midland Precincts

A survey of three Midland voting precincts late this morning indicated balloting was heavier than in other years.

The three precincts reported a total of 416 votes cast with 175 in the fourth precinct at 4th St. School, 160 at the first precinct in the Borough Building, and 81 at the second precinct at 7th St. School.

Huge Garbage Truck To Be Used By City

Council gave approval Monday night to an administration plan to purchase a truck with a 16-cubic yard "packer" body for the incinerator department — by far the largest capacity vehicle ever used for garbage and trash collections here.

Council provided $9,800 for the purchase of the truck chassis and body, but Safety-Service Director Joseph F. Ross said later the cost is expected to be considerably under the maximum provided. Council also enacted a resolution authorizing the administration to advertise for bids and enter into a contract for the new vehicle.

The purchase authorized last night actually is a change in some of the plans for modernization of incinerator department equipment which Council authorized in legislation enacted in August. At that time, the administration was empowered to buy a chassis with a 12-cubic yard "packer" body and to convert a 1949 model refuse truck from a dump body to the "packer" type.

Explaining the new plan to Council last night, Ross said the administration learned that the most suitable 12-cubic yard bodies will not fit on a 2½-ton truck chassis. That led to an investigation of other equipment in which a supplier demonstrated a truck with a 16-cubic yard body, Ross added.

The larger model, put through a trial run in East End, showed that its capacity is so huge that it will keep a three-man crew busy all day without interrupting the work to unload, Ross said. The loading opening is so large and the compacting mechanism is so powerful that the truck can handle such large items as bed springs, old sofas and so forth, he added. The other packer bodies do not exert sufficient force to compress the big objects, Ross said.

Ross said the big truck can be used in East End and downtown, where streets are comparatively level and wide enough to allow clearance. Councilmen Robert W. Sample Jr. and Stanley Kidder, who watched the big truck at work, said it appeared satisfactory. Incinerator crews were pleased because the new body is easier to load, they added.

Ross said the new truck is not expected to cost more than $9,800, even without a trade-in. As part of the deal, Council authorized the administration to sell a 1956 Chevrolet truck with a 13-cubic yard "packer" body, applying the proceeds toward purchase of the new vehicle. Funds originally set aside to buy the 12-cubic yard truck and convert the other vehicle to a "packer" body will be used for the purchase.

Meanwhile, Mayor Fred P. Lawrence asked Council to consider an appropriation of at least $1,000 to provide shelter for the bulldozer that covers refuse at the landfill dump in St. Clair Township. In cold weather, the diesel-powered bulldozer would be difficult to start if it had no shelter, the mayor said. He estimated a minimum of $1,000 would provide a makeshift heated shelter.

passed by the last State Legislature preserved the right of local school boards "to make and enforce rules or regulations to secure vaccination or immunization of pupils under its jurisdiction."

Parents may prevent their children from being vaccinated, but only if immunization is not required by the school board, McElroy ruled. If the immunization is mandatory, the state law is superceded by the local regulation, he said.

The new statute made immunizations against the five diseases compulsory but left a big loophole. By allowing parents to make written objections without giving specific reasons, some observers insisted the new law was voluntary rather than compulsory.

Although McElroy's opinion was sought by County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw on behalf of the County Board of Education, the move was instigated by the local board in an attempt to secure a stronger law.

After passing a resolution complying with the new law despite virtually unanimous feeling that it was "toothless," board members sought a ruling direct from the attorney general's office.

However, the board was rebuffed by an assistant attorney general who said the office by state law could only issue opinions to county prosecutors. The board then appealed to County Supt. James L. McBride to seek a ruling through Brokaw's office.

At Whitacre's questioning, most of the farmers indicated by a hand vote that they were using the whole milk of their own herds at a small cost of obtaining equipment, and that they felt the milk house and equipment at the home could be placed in satisfactory condition.

Gard was questioned on health conditions at the home, why the conditions had not been remedied before and if the costs of obtaining milk equipment had been compared with purchasing milk from a dairy.

The group also asked about the lag in purchasing proper equipment for the rest of the home. Gard said a new dishwasher and mixer had been purchased, but felt it was a waste of money to fix up the old buildings. Hunston expressed agreement with this.

Discussion was also held on water and sewage conditions at the home. It was agreed some immediate improvement would be needed even if the proposed bond issue for a new county home is passed.

of Pittsburgh on Oct. 21 granted the government's plea for an 80-day injunction. Six days later the U.S. Court of Appeals in Philadelphia upheld Judge Sore, but again held up effectiveness of the injunction to allow the union to seek a Supreme Court review.

The union's major arguments, as outlined in legal briefs, are that:

1. The findings of Judge Sore that the strike, if not halted, would imperil the national health and safety were "based on a misreading of the statute and, even on that misreading, were unsupported by the evidence."

2. The Taft-Hartley law attempts to confer upon the federal courts duties that are not properly judicial functions, making the 80-day injunction provision of the act unconstitutional.

Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin, for the government, has challenged every legal contention of the union.

Snow, Freeze Preview For Squaw Winter

The East Liverpool area got a preview of "Squaw Winter" Monday with forenoon snow flurries, snow squalls in the afternoon and sub-freezing temperatures last night, not forgetting brisk winds of an estimated 10-12 miles per hour, with heavier velocity gusts.

But it takes several days running of such weather to produce Squaw Winter, which always precedes a week or more of Indian Summer before wintry weather sets in for certain. And a warm up is forecast through Wednesday.

The high winds whipped the snow squalls yesterday afternoon as the temperatures hovered in the lower 40's but the East Liverpool area has had earlier snow in the past.

Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observer at Millport, said snow covered the ground in October about six years ago, and light snow is not unusual for early November. However, hard winter usually sets in during Thanksgiving Week, as it did last year.

The mercury plunged to 20 degrees at Copeland's farm in the Millport area and he said the ground was frozen and covered with frost. Ice formed on farm watering troughs.

New Red Cross Chairmen Chosen For Chapter Here

Appointments of 1960 Red Cross service chairmen were announced today by Judge Louis Tobin, local chapter chairman.

Mrs. Howard Parsons will head the three-state camp and hospital service while Mrs. Ellen Strabley Coulin will be in charge of nursing services.

The disaster committee, which functioned capably during the floods last year, again will be chaired by James Walker, with Eugene Hall co-chairman and Jud English a committee member.

Mrs. Jason Brookes and Mrs. Mary Hutchman will be in charge of the home service program, while Mrs. Neil Shope retains her chairmanship of staff aides. Mrs. James Jackson will continue her work with welfare aides.

The first aid department will have Frank Hancock as chairman, with Alvin Arner as executive adviser and Austen Moore in charge of first aid instructors of the Community Service Club.

Mrs. Evelyn Balser will continue as head of the canteen, with Christ Pallas co-chairman in charge of disaster canteen work.

Judge Tobin also reappointed Mrs. F. D. Irwin, Junior Red Cross chairman; Mrs. R. J. Schiff, water safety chairman, and Mrs. Richard C. Mayers, publicity chairman.

A newly created committee, the Arts and Crafts Division of Entertainment and Supply, will be co-chaired by Mrs. Robert Hayes and Mrs. William Belaney.

The new service will be patterned after the Camp and Hospital Service in effect at military installations, according to Mrs. J. Donald Thompson, chairman of volunteers.

The women will serve as "Gray Ladies", who performed a necessary and popular service during World War II, with the emphasis changed to visiting handicapped, disabled or shut-in civilians in the community, Mrs. Thompson said.

Mrs. Thompson said present plans call for a reading service for the nursing homes as well as a program of therapeutic crafts for shut-ins who desire them.

A two-hour orientation period is necessary to become a member of this committee and Mrs. Thompson invites interested women to contact Mrs. Hayes and Mrs. Belaney.

The group's initial service was the packaging of 168 bags of Halloween candy for the residents of the County Home for the Aged. Materials were donated for this project, Mrs. Thompson said.

Greek-Turkish Group Resumes Negotiations

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—After two weeks of inactivity, the Greek-Turkish constitutional committee resumed negotiations Monday on the division of government powers between their two communities after Cyprus becomes independent next year.

Archbishop Makarios, the Greek Cypriot leader, suspended committee meetings Oct. 21 after a British minesweeper captured an ammunition-laden Turkish fishing boat off Cyprus.

The archbishop's action aroused fears that strife would resume between the Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities. The way was opened to a resumption of negotiations by appeals from both the archbishop and Turkish Cypriot leader Fazil Kutchuk for their people to surrender all illegally held arms by midnight Wednesday. No arms have been turned in yet.

30 New Films Received For Library Stock

The Carnegie Public Library announced today there are 30 new films available to spark the programs of clubs, schools, and churches.

Sports groups should phone early to obtain bookings for the 40-minute feature, "All Star Football Game of 1958," Miss Frances Jones, librarian, said. A fitting completion for this program would be the 10-minute short on winter sports, "Snow Speed," she added.

"Exploring the Night Sky" is a brief astronomy study which uses animation to explain the formation of the stars and constellations. Other scientific subjects include: "Energy" 11 minutes; "Human Reproduction" 21 minutes; "Plant Traps," "Properties of Gases" and an unusual 17-minute seascape in color on "Mollusks, Snails, Oysters, and Octopuses."

Many groups find that travel and geography films provide both entertainment and education. Films can provide a glimpse of the following: "Polynesian Culture" a 21-minute color portrayal of Samoa life; "The Middle East" 14-minute color study; "Germany, People of the Industrial West," and a 10-minute peep at a "Mexican Fishing Village." This latter could combine with "Spanish Language Study."

Interest in Canada and Indian lore is almost universal. "The Loon's Neckline" is an Indian legend. This film paired with a short on the Canadian Rockies would make a good 30-minute program, Miss Jones said.

Scout groups will find that they can learn a new craft in a 40-minute study, "The ABC of Puppet Making." Also of interest to the Girls Scouts would be "Dolls of Many Lands." Boy Scouts would derive some vicarious excitement from "Animals Unlimited" which shows wildlife of all types in the Union of South Africa.

Just for fun features always are on tap for the little tots in the film department of the library. November selections include "Three Little Bruins Make Mischief" and "The Monkey Who Would Be King." The library staff advises that holiday program films are now in stock for both Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Alcohol Indirectly Causes Weight Gain

"Please, please write on alcohol, energy, the food calories are not needed for that purpose, and are therefore spared and stored as fat."

Moreover, cocktails and alcoholic drinks whet the appetite for food, lift inhibitions, including calorie caution, and gone is the will to resist overeating.

But it's not only because alcoholic drinks stimulate appetite that they are potential weight-makers. One cannot get away from calorie arithmetic. On the fuel score, alcohol calories count the same as any other.

So when alcoholic beverages plus food boost total calories over the top of one's requirements, pounds pile on.

Women are often more figure-conscious than men, so to guard against getting fat, they purposely eat sparingly when they drink better. This can bring on another kind of problem — malnutrition.

Let's straighten out the first misconception. The Mayo diet assumed the guise of respectability by appropriating the Mayo name. It was not put out by the famous Mayo Clinic. In a letter to your dietitian, the Mayo Clinic disclaimed any connection with this fad diet. At Mayo Clinic, all reducing diets are planned to meet the particular needs of the individual.

NOW FOR THE facts on alcohol: Alcohol has a definite fuel value of 7 calories per gram, or nearly twice the fuel output of protein or carbohydrates and with a couple of calories of the high fuel value of fats.

The reason a dieter might be misled into thinking alcohol has no bearing on the weight problem is that alcohol cannot be stored as fat. Even so, alcohol plus food is quite likely to result in avoirdupois. The paradox is this — when

Drive To Oust Castro Seen Set Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Cuban exiles in the United States and Latin America will launch an all-out campaign tonight to overthrow the Cuban government of Fidel Castro, the New York Mirror reported today.

The newspaper in a dispatch from Miami said a provisional government is being organized to lead the campaign, which will begin with the parachuting of sabotage groups into Cuba.

Dr. Emilio Nunez Portuondo, former Cuban ambassador to the United Nations and now an exile in this country, will be named president of the provisional government, according to the Mirror.

The Westgate School cafeteria and gymnasium were rented to the East Liverpool Sportsman's Club on Nov. 28 for a dinner and dance honoring Bernie Allen, former Potter football star now starring at Purdue University. The board set the fee at $33 plus the time of a cafeteria supervisor.

The Boy Scouts were granted conditional use of the gymnasium on the afternoon of Nov. 28 for a Pinewood Derby. However, the superintendent was asked to make a further investigation of any possible damages to the floor or fire hazards before granting final approval. The fee will be $15.

The Civic Music Association was granted use of the Westgate auditorium for its first concert on Nov. 23 at a fee of $60.

The board approved placing Dorothy Vodrey and Kathryn Hutchman on the regular salary schedule until two regular teachers are able to return. The appointments were made effective Oct. 14.

It also approved the regular salary for Dorothy Broadbent between Sept. 14 and Oct. 2.

The board also held a lengthy discussion on resolutions to be presented at the annual meeting of the Ohio School Boards Association Nov. 12 in Cleveland. Samuel W. Brown will be the board's official delegate at the session.

The modern nation of Yemen was once part of the ancient kingdom of Sheba.

Damages from vandalism Sunday night at Westgate School, which Supt. Ralph W. Betts termed "planned destruction," was approximately $300, the Board of Education was informed Monday night.

Custodians discovered Monday morning that 85 glass blocks in the south end of the junior high wing had been smashed along with a larger window and a dome light. The vandals also upset the contents of a fire extinguisher on the floor.

The board referred to its building committee a suggestion from the superintendent that the glass block area be replaced with brick with matching tile in the interior corridor. The cost is expected to be more than $1,000, he indicated.

Betts pointed out the block broken were in the same section where the board spent $360 this summer to replace more than 100 blocks cracked by stones hurled by vandals.

In discussing Sunday's vandalism, however, the superintendent said it was not the result of stone throwing.

They virtually had to use a pile driver," Betts said, explaining the glass block had been smashed completely through. "One hole was large enough to crawl through," he explained.

Betts said a protective screen, which the board considered installing this summer to prevent damage from stones, would not have saved the glass block.

Betts said it was impossible to determine whether the block had been smashed from the inside or outside since both the corridor floor and the ground underneath the section was littered with glass fragments.

The superintendent said larger youths must have caused the damage since it would be almost impossible for smaller children to have sufficient force to drive the block through. "And they came equipped!" he added.

Leo C. Lawrence, president, commented it made him heart sick to think how many worked to secure the new school only to have "a bunch of goons" destroy it.

Other board members agreed with his sentiments, pointing out the vandals may be destroying their own property.

Man Convicted, Faces 5 Years In Police Shooting

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — George Cole, convicted of second-degree murder, faces a five-year to life sentence for the shooting of San Francisco police Sgt. Joseph Lacey.

A jury of seven women and five men ruled Monday night that Cole, 32, was guilty of second-degree murder and assault with a deadly weapon. He had been charged with murder and attempted robbery in a bar Dec. 30, 1956. The state had sought a first-degree murder conviction.

Thomas Hamrick, 28, Cole's accomplice who at his own trial named Cole as the trigger man, is serving a life sentence in San Quentin Prison. He refused to testify in the trial last week.

Cole was arrested in Des Moines, Iowa, in July by FBI agents who traced him through drugstore prescriptions used by Yvonne Conley, 45. The couple had been residing there, Cole operating a service station under an alias.

Cole previously served time in San Quentin and in the Missouri Penitentiary for armed robbery and auto theft.

Radio Maintains Respect For Public

It's oft said when a teen-ager of good family background gets into trouble with the law, "Strange he should go wrong; he has such nice parents!"

If radio exists as the paternal figure of TV, the quiz scandal and its implications of cynical contempt for the public can cause us to take a look at Father Radio and see what he's been doing while Laddie Television wandered astray.

What we see leads us to wonder whether the TV child ever learned anything at the parental knee. The most prominent image on the radio horizon is a thing called Respect for the Public. True, there is the commercial war to the pop music age, but it is also true that more and more stations in the country are assuming a position of community leadership.

IN ONE MARKET, a station crusaded for the conversion of a garbage dump into a low-rent housing area, airing both sides of the controversy. After the tapes of the irate public were broadcast, the announcer said:

"Now let's hear what the present residents of the tract have to say." And there followed the sound of squealing pigs. (The garbage dump was used as a pig farm.)

In another market, defective septic tanks were repaired when the station pointed out they were a menace to public health.

A third station documented fraudulent TV repair service and campaigned for a licensing system to protect the abused citizenry. There have been effective editorials about high taxes, excessive cost of civic buildings, state liquor laws, daylight saving time and a variety of legislation affecting the listeners.

THESE PERTINENT bits of information are contained in a two-year study of American radio called "The Nuts and Bolts of Radio," by George Skinner, director of programming services of the Katz Agency, one of the leading representatives of broadcasters.

According to the Katz manual, "Public service is an important responsibility of a radio station, but the responsibility is to inform the public, rather than placate the beneficiaries."

The station, which schedules extended periods of public service broadcasting rather than brief, interesting and well-produced announcements is short-changing the charity organizations on effectiveness, overestimating its actual contribution to public service, and neglecting the great majority of people who look to radio for honest information and entertainment.

Skinner's "Nuts and Bolts of Radio" cites dozens of illustrations that point to the fact that old radio has learned to take for granted its responsibility to the audience.

Maybe the TV child should go home for Christmas and get straightened out.

IN LONDON, Edward R. Murrow addressed the British Association for the Advancement of Science and assured the learned group that the U.S. has a few TV items superior to "Wagon Train," "Wells Fargo" and "I Love Lucy" (all popular in England).

Conversely, Murrow noted that the American viewer was isolated from the best product of British TV, and he allowed that something ought to be done about it. The main point of his theme was that television must rise to a more constructive task, be a tool to finish the job of adult education.

Only one month old, "Bourbon Street Beat" has received a notice from the sponsor that it's pulling out as of January, after a 13-week run.

Jerry Lewis' "good deed" at Thanksgiving time will be a 19-hour telethon (Nov. 21 and 22) on behalf of muscular dystrophy.

ABC OFFERS a special salute next Tuesday to a worthy subject, Dr. Thomas A. Dooley, the American physician hailed for his work in the tiny Asian nation of Laos.

"Gunsmoke," which for eight years has been recognized as an "adult" Western, attracts considerable mail from fledgling viewers. About one-third of the fan mail, reports the "Gunsmoke" management, comes from youngsters between the ages of 8 and 12, a fact that pleases the producers more than it does us.

Two Contests Highlight U.S. Voting Today

By The Associated Press

Voters today elect two governors, legislators in five states and hundreds of mayors. None of the contests was fought on national issues, but politicians hope to spot trends for the 1960 presidential year.

The two liveliest contests were for governor of Kentucky and mayor of Philadelphia. In the latter battle, onetime Republican wonderboy Harold E. Stassen is making what could be his final bid for elective office. He is expected to lose to incumbent Democrat Richardson Dilworth.

In Kentucky, Democrat Bert T. Corbbs is running against Republican John M. Robison Jr., a former congressman. Corbbs is favored, but an intraparty squabble with rethling Governor A. B. (Happy) Chandler may make it a close race.

Mississippi also elects a governor, but segregationist lawyer Ross Barnett is unopposed. He won the run-off primary in August.

State legislators are being chosen in New Jersey, New York, Kentucky, Virginia and Mississippi. Only 11 vacancies are being filled in New York.

Mayors are being elected in Boston, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, Salt Lake City and many smaller cities.

In Indiana 108 municipal elections are being held. Democrats won 72 of 104 city elections in 1955 and the Republicans are out to reverse this trend.

Stassen reached his highest elective office as the youthful governor of Minnesota. He made several tries to win the Republican presidential nomination but never came close.

In 1958 he ran as a candidate in the Republican primary for governor of Pennsylvania, and lost the nomination to an obscure pretzel manufacturer.

Now he is running for mayor of Philadelphia, and observers don't give him much chance to win.

Kentucky's Gov. Chandler is ineligible to succeed himself. He backed Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield in the gubernatorial primary, but Corbbs beat the Chandler candidate.

Some of the bitterness of this primary fight remains. Chandler predicted that thousands of Democrats would stay home.

Kentucky's GOP Eyes 1st Governor In 16 Years Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky Republicans held hopes today that Democratic dissension would help elect the state's first GOP governor in 16 years.

Although Democratic Gov. A. B. Chandler predicted thousands of unhappy Democrats would stay at home, a turnout of about 800,000 was expected during the polling hours between 6 a.m. and 5 p.m. to choose between Democrat Bert Corbbs and Republican John Robison.

Leaders of the faction backing Corbbs maintain there is no real split among the Democrats. They say his margin over Robison will be at least 74,000 votes.

Republican leaders, however, predict the First Congressional District, a Democratic stronghold, will not return its usual overwhelming majority for the party.

Also at stake are eight other statewide offices and two proposed amendments to the state constitution.

One amendment, which proposes paying a bonus to veterans of four wars, has been the subject of strong non-partisan controversy. Corbbs and Robison agreed to take no public stand on the bonus.

Ike Lays Cornerstone For CIA Headquarters

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower lays the cornerstone today for a new multi-million dollar headquarters of the government's super-secret Central Intelligence Agency.

Eisenhower arranged to speak at the excavation site at nearby Langley, Va., along with Allen W. Dulles, director of the far-flung intelligence network.

The President hoped to go directly from Langley to Gettysburg, Pa., to vote there before returning to Washington.

The 46-million-dollar CIA structure, due to be completed by August 1961, will provide a single home for the thousands of CIA employees now scattered in 22 separate buildings in downtown Washington.

Game Chief Reviews Five Hunting Deaths

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — State Fish and Game Director Thomas L. Kimball says he likes to do his hunting late in the regular big game season.

"That's when most of the amateur hunters are finished," he told newsmen Monday in reviewing the high toll of five hunters shot to death and nine wounded this season.

Abraham Lincoln served in the U. S. Congress as a member of the Whig party.

Showdown For Republican

Stassen's Underdog Today In Philadelphia Mayor Bid

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — This is showdown day for embattled Harold E. Stassen. Either Philadelphia surprise most insiders and elect the Republican underdog mayor or they strike what could be the fatal blow to his waning political career.

A Democratic registration majority of more than 100,000 and the endorsement of Philadelphia's three daily newspapers and other major organizations establish Democrat Richardson Dilworth as a favorite in his bid for a second term.

While the Democrats and even some Republican leaders — privately — are putting their money on Dilworth, Stassen is brimming with confidence. He foresees an "upset victory" by at least 60,000.

The Democrats, too, are confident that Dilworth, who is running on his first term record, will emerge a victor by at least a margin of 150,000.

A defeat for Stassen, 52, could send him into oblivion since he has suffered setback after setback in recent years. GOP leaders likely would not risk running him again at any level.

The former governor of Minnesota and disarmament advisor to President Eisenhower has lost bids for the Republican presidential nomination three times since 1944.

He tried to dump Vice President Richard M. Nixon from the Eisenhower ticket in 1956 but his drive never picked up much steam.

Stassen's most recent defeat came in 1958 when he ran as a candidate in the primary for governor of Pennsylvania. He was defeated by a virtually politically unknown pretzel manufacturer who had Republican party backing.

Pilot Tells Of Sorrow After His Jet Killed Two Children

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The pilot of a jet fighter that slammed into a house and killed two children says "If I were blessed with foresight, I might have ridden it into the ground."

"You can't know how I feel about the aircraft going into a house," the pilot said after the crash Monday.

The pilot, Maj. James Bradbury, 34, the father of a small daughter, bailed out of his plane.

But Air Force officials said he did all he could, staying with the supersonic F104 Starfighter — which had an explosion and lost power—until it was out of control and 500 feet below recommended minimum bail-out altitude.

They arranged to fly Grace Shoup, 34, mother of the two little victims, to a Texas military medical center specializing in burn treatment today.

She ran screaming from the burning building, a converted brick school, with her clothes on fire. Clyde Allen, a neighbor, grabbed a blanket from his house, wrapped Mrs. Shoup in it and smothered the flames.

The house, in rural Green County near the Dayton suburb of Kettering, was destroyed. Mrs. Shoup's daughters, Lori Ann, 2, and Lynne Marie, 12

Council Sets Bus Franchise Steps Nov. 16

Subject to later approval of schedules and other operating details, councilmen indicated in an informal discussion Monday night they will consider legislation Nov. 16 awarding a franchise for East End and Midland bus runs to the Tri-State Transit Co. and giving the operating rights on an East Liverpool-Wellsville line to the Inter-City Transit Co.

The two concerns now are operating the lines under temporary arrangements they made after the service was given up in late October by the Holtz Transportation Co.

Tri-State is operated by John R. Campbell and Donald W. Barnes, who also serve the Chester-Newell line. Inter-City's operator is John W. Young, who also has lines to Pleasant Heights and North Side. Barnes and Campbell made a tentative deal to buy the East End and Midland runs Oct. 20 after Council took the first step toward revoking the franchise held by Holtz. But both Tri-State and Inter-City later put in bids for the franchise when Council met to discuss a change in operators.

Late last week, Inter-City took over the Wellsville run after negotiating a deal with Holtz and arranging temporary operating authority between the west city limits and Wellsville with the Public Utilities Commission.

In the discussion of the franchises, the only dissent against giving the East End franchise to Barnes and Campbell was made by Councilman Samuel B. Webber of the Fourth Ward. He said Pleasant Heights residents favor giving the franchise to Young, who promised to provide three nights of service weekly to both the Heights and North Side if he also held the East End operating rights.

Two members who reside in East End, Councilmen H. A. Tullis and A. Stanley Kidder, said that First Ward residents have been very well pleased with the service given by Barnes and Campbell. Equipment is clean and well-maintained and the schedules are kept, they commented.

Although Young put in a bid for the East End-Midland franchise, he later indicated that it would mean heavy additional expense to him, including purchase of two additional buses, Councilman William Y. Orr, franchise committee chairman, said.

Council's control over the Wellsville line extends only from the Bus Terminal to the west city limits. Between the corporate line and the lower end of Wellsville, the service operates under PUCO authority.

Kennedy Urges New National Conscience

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) has urged Americans "to muster a new national conscience, a new sense of public purpose" in meeting the Soviet challenge to the free world.

So far, he thinks the people have fallen short and, he adds, the stakes are too high: In a few years the world may be all free or all slave.

"The harsh facts of the matter are that we have gone soft: physically, mentally, spiritually soft," he said. "We are in danger of losing our will to fight, to sacrifice and to endure."

Kennedy spoke Monday night at a $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner in Beverly Hills.

Airman's Wife Booked In Deaths Of Children

BILOXI, Miss. (AP)—The wife of an Air Force sergeant, described as upset over her husband's impending overseas assignment, shot and killed two of her three children Monday night.

Police said they booked Mrs. Harry Blue, 31, for investigation of murder. The victims were Harry Norman, 10, and Gwendolyn Earl, 8.

Sheriff's Deputy Claude Miller said neighbors told him that Mrs. Blue was distraught because of her husband's upcoming tour of duty abroad.

Blue's home is in Atlanta, Ga. Mrs. Blue is originally from Houston, Tex.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: When I married I knew what I was getting into. My husband had four children by a divorced wife. It was understood that he was to support them until they were 21 and put them through college. I knew, too, they would spend three months out of every year with us.

A few weeks ago my husband decided to drive the two younger children back to their mother's home. The older ones wanted to go by train. Since it's a 400-mile trip we could drive it in one day.

The question came up of where to spend the night once we reached the destination. My husband said, "Let's stay with Millie and save the hotel bill." I said, "Absolutely not. I couldn't sleep a wink in her home."

He got mad, said I was nuts on the subject and was trying to be mean.

I'll leave it to you. Am I nuts, or do I have a point?—SECOND WIND.

Dear Second: You have a point, indeed. It makes no sense for you to spend the night in the home of your husband's former wife if you're even remotely uncomfortable about it.

Insist on a hotel—and let him save on something else.

Vanity Of Woman

Dear Ann: What can I do about a wife who is reasonable and intelligent about everything but refuses to wear her hearing aid.

It's annoying the way she breaks into conversations and asks questions which were just answered. People who aren't aware that she has a hearing problem think she's not all there.

I'm sure it's a matter of vanity because she's a youthful-looking woman and hates to have those wires and knobs showing. But isn't it better than being only half present? Please tell me what to do.—UP A TREE.

Dear Up: This column never has and will not now plug any particular product. But there are hearing aids on the market which have no hanging cords or visible amplifiers.

To all eagle-eyed public relations and sales representatives: I will not print brand names of products so please don't send 'em.

Free-Loading Family

Dear Ann: My husband has two sisters who live at opposite ends of town. They each have three children. We have not had a Sunday alone that I can remember. The sisters, their husbands and children drop in every Sunday after church (which is seven blocks from our home). Naturally we must offer them dinner. It's always the same story: "Don't fix anything extra for us. Whatever you have handy is just fine. We aren't company."

Now, Ann Landers, how can you feed 10 additional people without fixing something extra?

I don't have the nerve to tell them that Sunday is your privacy. But if you don't have it, there's precious little anyone can do for you.

Since these women are your husband's sisters it's his place to tell them that Sunday is your privacy. But if you don't have it, there's precious little anyone can do for you.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

East Liverpool Climbs To Sixth Place In Ohio Grid Poll

Warren, Central Drop From Top 10 Rankings

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A down-the-stretch drive for Ohio's high school football championship is on today, with Massillon's proud and talented Tigers leading the way.

But the south, for the first time this season, claimed four of the Top 10 berths in the weekly Associated Press poll in which the title is decided. Springfield's Wildcats, highest-scoring combine among the elite, were second. Kettering Fairmont, with the best defensive mark, was fourth.

And in for the first time were Marietta in eighth and Martins Ferry in ninth, each with a 7-0 record. The two Ohio River teams emerged as Warren Harding, sixth last week, was belted 38-8 by Massillon for the Panthers' second loss, and Steubenville Central Catholic was dumped 6-2 by East Liverpool after a lone week in ninth place.

With 44 sports writers participating in the poll, two less than a week ago, Massillon's edge over Springfield was slashed by 47 points on the 10-9-8-etc. voting basis. Last week the Stark County stalwarts led by 353 to 270, but the margin was 284 to 248 today.

Toledo DeVilbiss gained a single notch for the fourth straight week to take third place with 151, and Kettering Fairmont jumped from seventh to fourth. DeVilbiss whipped Toledo Waite 28-0, and Kettering swamped Sidney 62-0.

Lorain, although a 53-14 winner over Fremont Ross, dropped from third to fifth. Marion Harding, a 68-20 victor over Ashland, fell from fifth to seventh. East Liverpool, in erasing Steubenville Central, soared from eighth to sixth, and Cleveland East clung to tenth with a 26-22 squeaker over Cleveland John Adams.

Lorain, East Liverpool and Marion Harding have been beaten once, but the others are "clean" for the seven games.

From here and there: Alliance's Aviators, their hopes of repeating as state champions blasted, are playing it out right up to the hilt. Coach Mel Knowlton's boys handed Canton McKinley a 50-14 setback last week, the largest score they've ever run up on the twice-champion Bulldogs, and the second largest ever made by anyone against the Canton club.

Marietta rallied from a first-period 7-0 deficit to nose out Zanesville's once-beaten team 16-15, for its spot in the Top 10. Springfield has scored in every quarter of every game to pile up 327 points while allowing only 32. Middletown scored 26 against the Wildcats. Coach Lou Florio of Hamilton Garfield, only mentor to upset Springfield a year ago, said after Friday's 61-0 loss that "Springfield has the greatest high school team I've ever seen."

Lorain and Elyria, each 6-1 meets Nov. 13 for the 66th time and with the Buckeye Conference title at stake. Lorain leads in the series with 41 wins to Elyria's 20.

Bob Patin of Dennison St. Mary's scored 20 points in the 28-14 win over Zanesville Rosecrans, boosting his total to 126 and the Waves to their 24th without defeat. Quarterback Bob Mackall raced 76 yards for the lone touchdown as East Liverpool nosed out Steubenville Central 6-2 on a muddy field.

Warren, which wrecked Massillon's title hopes 6-2 last year, gave up 22 points to the Tigers in the first period Friday as 21,090

Three-Way Battle Seen In District Point Race

Any one of three backs could emerge with the district football scoring title this season.

With three games to go, George Morris of East Palestine has moved back into the No. 1 spot by scoring 14 points at Poland last Saturday.

The two touchdowns and 2-point conversion sent his total to 88. Morris has 14 touchdowns and 4 extra points.

Right behind him is East Liverpool's Bob Mackall, who tallied the touchdown that beat Steubenville Central. Mackall, the leader in Eastern Ohio, has 13 TD's and 6 extra points for 84.

Salem's Fred Phillips also is still very much in the race with 12 touchdowns and 8 extra points for a total of 80.

Mackall and Phillips will meet headon this Friday night when Salem invades East Liverpool.

A deadlock for fourth place in the scoring race shows Tom Brooks of Lisbon and Pete Schmauch of Salem with 64 each.

Rich Ashcroft of South Side finished the season with 54 points in eight games. South Side closed its season Friday night.

Bill Mayhew of Chester is sixth with 54, while his teammate Kenny Sayre holds seventh with 45. Paul Fry of Lisbon is eighth with 44 and Dave Macry of Leetonia has moved to ninth with 42.

The only newcomer this week is Lisbon's Denny Johnson, who scored three touchdowns Friday to give him 40 points to date.

Coach Dom Amedeo's Chester Panthers have the No. 1 team spot to themselves after winning their seventh game of the season against one loss.

Nonpareil Club Sets Meeting Tonight At 8

The Blue and White Nonpareil Club will meet tonight at 8 at the YMCA. Members of the East Liverpool - Steubenville Central game will be screened by Coach Lou Venditti. Preceding the regular meeting the board of directors will meet at 7:30.

Wildcats Hold On To 2nd LSU Remains No. 1 After Big Win Over Mississippi

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
This is the week of decision for the big boys who rank high in the football poll. Louisiana State, Northwestern, Syracuse and Penn State should know if they can hope to go all the way by Saturday night.

LSU just finished a harrowing test, beating Mississippi 7-3 on a last-quarter touchdown and then holding off Ole Miss in a goal line stand to remain the No. 1 team in the national Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters.

Now the Chinese Bandits and Billy Cannon face another vital game Saturday with Tennessee, beaten by Georgia Tech and tied by Alabama. If LSU gets past this game, only oft-beaten Mississippi State and Tulane bar the door to another perfect campaign and the Sugar Bowl.

LSU received 132 first place votes among the 202 cast in the poll. It was the 14th straight time the Tigers have been the No. 1 club, including a pre-season ballot.

Northwestern, the No. 2 club, showed impressively against Indiana, 30-13 with its crippled back in the line-up. They may need everything they have Saturday when they meet once-beaten Wisconsin, the No. 9 team, with the Big Ten lead at stake.

The unofficial Eastern title will be at stake Saturday at University Park, Pa. when Syracuse (6-0) plays Penn State (7-0), a pairing of the No. 4 team and the No. 7 team in the nation.

The only new entry in the top 10 this week is Clemson which took over 10th place after beating Rice 19-0. Georgia Tech, knocked off by Duke 10-7, dropped all the way from ninth to 19th.

58 Cage Candidates Greet Harris As Practice Starts

One of the largest turnouts in several years greeted East Liverpool's new basketball coach Jim Harris when 58 boys were on hand for the first day of practice Monday at Memorial Auditorium.

Harris, who starred for the Potlows and Baldwin-Wallace College, said that a "large sophomore group" was on hand Monday.

A breakdown shows 33 sophomores and 25 juniors and seniors. This does not include the football players who will report after the final game of the season on Nov. 20.

Monday's drill lasted almost three hours and practice sessions will be held each night after school and on Saturday mornings, Harris said.

A scrimmage has been set on Nov. 18 at Beaver Local and the Potter coach is attempting to obtain practice games with Bill Laughlin's Washington (Pa.) club and Farrell.

California Coach Claims Injury Was 'Deliberate'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — University of California officials plan to follow up charges by football coach Pete Elliott that Southern California guard Mike McKeever deliberately smashed the face of Cal halfback Steve Bates.

Without mentioning names, California Athletic Director Greg Engelhard said, "Certainly we are going to follow it up with USC officials. It is a delicate subject between two schools and will be discussed privately."

Southern California Coach Don Clark flatly refuted the charge, saying, "It's certainly regrettable when any boy is injured. A review of the films with our university administrators indicates no misconduct on the part of Mike McKeever."

Elliott saw a different picture of the play during USC's 14-7 victory Saturday on which Bates was injured in the second quarter. The California coach claimed McKeever piled into Bates and hit him in the face with an elbow after the halfback was down and out of bounds.

Bates was hospitalized with a broken cheekbone and nose. Physicians said he will undergo surgery.

At Monday's meeting of the Northern California Football Writers and Broadcasters Assn., Elliott said that last year McKeever drew a 15-day penalty for a similar foul against quarterback Joe Kapp and had committed three flagrant rule violations in the past two games.

The 220-pound junior guard was ejected from the Stanford game two weeks ago and was tossed out of the California game in the fourth period for roughing quarterback Pete Olson.

In Los Angeles, Clark told the weekly meeting of football writers there he had spent eight hours reviewing films of the first half of the California-USC game and found "no indications of misconduct."

A sequence of still pictures in San Francisco indicated Bates had been tripped up and was on the ground as McKeever approached.

Browns Pass Defense Set For Van Brocklin

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns will have to defend against another passing barrage when they tangle with Norm Van Brocklin and the surprising Philadelphia Eagles at the stadium Sunday.

Both teams are tied for second place—one game behind the New York Giants in the Eastern Division of the National Football League.

Cleveland coach Paul Brown isn't worried about his players having a letdown after the thrilling 38-31 victory over the world champion Baltimore Colts Sunday.

"The boys know that it's do or die, in or out," said Brown. "That deep desire to win was the real secret of our success in Baltimore. That feeling was the McCoy."

"We can't afford to get two games behind. If we keep one behind we can do something about it ourselves when we meet the Giants again."

Baltimore quarterback Johnny Unitas riddled Cleveland's secondary with passes good for 381 yards and four touchdowns. Van Brocklin doesn't figure to do that well, but the Dutchman, a veteran of 11 NFL seasons, can fire passes unerringly.

Coach Brown is hoping the team, which this season started so slowly, will reverse the trend of a year ago when it broke away quickly but faded at the end.

Now with the Baltimore performance the best in at least two seasons, the Browns have the momentum to roll in high gear.

The schedule in the remaining six games favors the Browns, however. The New York Giants (5-1) meet the Cardinals twice, Pittsburgh, Washington twice, and the Browns at Yankee Stadium Dec. 6. Cleveland (4-2) has to contend with the Eagles, Redskins, Pittsburgh, San Francisco's Western Division leaders, the Giants and the Eagles again. After Sunday, only the Pittsburgh and San Francisco contests are home affairs.

Pro Cage Loop Getting Into Expansion Act

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Assn., expansion-minded like the rest of the professional leagues, may go to 12 teams in 1961 and to 15 teams thereafter, President Maurice Podoloff says.

Now an eight-team league with two divisions of four teams each, the NBA will definitely add one new member — Chicago — next year and possibly two, if Pittsburgh is ready by then.

But that's only the beginning, Podoloff says.

"Our long range plan calls for a three-division setup of five teams each, one division in the East, another in the Midwest and a third on the West Coast," he told the Associated Press Monday.

"Next year, we will have five teams in the Western division (Chicago joining regulars Detroit, Minneapolis, Cincinnati and St. Louis). If Pittsburgh joins us, it would give us five in the East (joining New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Syracuse). We would need three other cities to come in with Los Angeles and San Francisco to make up the West Coast divisions."

Podoloff said he plans to meet with a representative from Portland, Ore., next week.

Sportsmen's Club Names President

George W. Whittaker Jr. of Chester was elected president of the Chester-Newell Farmers and Sportsmen's Club at a meeting Monday night at the Gas Valley clubhouse. He succeeds Paul R. Johnston of Chester.

Johnston was elected vice president and Lester P. Lutton of Chester was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Clifford Dye and G. D. Collins, both of Chester, were named trustees for two-year terms. Carl Graham and Ira VanFossan, both of Chester, are the other trustees.

Walter McCrea, county game warden, spoke on land rights of members, how to patrol club grounds and the aspects of the state dog laws. Projects for the year were discussed.

About 50 attended. The next meeting will be Dec. 7.

Texas Guard Is Choice For All-American

AUSTIN Tex. (AP) — Crew-cut Maurice Duke, who barks defensive signals for a jaw-to-jaw Texas team as a sideline to his near A average in engineering, looms as the Longhorns' best choice for All-America.

Duke, a medium-size guard at 6 feet 1 inch, 200 pounds, has started 23 consecutive games. Barring an injury, he'll run the string to 31 by season's end.

Texas Coach Darrell Royal, said he didn't think any team had a player who could match this many starting roles.

Royal rates the aggressive guard the best consistently good performer on the undefeated Texas team, ranked fourth nationally. "He's a well coordinated athlete, a real fine competitor. He has called defensive signals all year and is a good offensive blocker," Royal said.

Duke came from his left guard position to near right end to blast a hole which freed halfback Jack Collins on an 86-yard run early in the year. He opened another hole that sophomore Collins streaked through for 44 yards to score. Against Maryland, he personally sandbagged one Terp drive by downing the ball carriers three times inside the 10.

Wells Chosen On American Seniors Team

J. M. Wells, Homer Laughlin China Co. executive, has been chosen again to play on the American Seniors Team which will meet Great Britain and Canada Thursday and Friday at Pine Valley Country Club near Philadelphia.

This marks the fifth time Wells has been selected on the American squad. Sixteen men make up the team.

Since World War II, the Americans have won three of the five matches, which are played every two years.

Wells said that Great Britain is appearing in the United States for the first time since the end of World War.

New York City After Army For Game Next Year

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City is going all out to get the Army football team into Yankee Stadium next year and has an eye out for a continuation of the Army-Air Force series here.

Bill Tackman, director of promotion for industry and public events in the city's Commerce Department, said Monday that he will approach West Point officials at the season's end to see if they are amenable to moving next year's game with Syracuse into Yankee Stadium. The game is scheduled for Nov. 5, 1960 in Army's 27,500 seat Michie Stadium. Army already has a 1961 date with Oklahoma here.

Last Saturday, more than 67,000 fans jammed Yankee Stadium to see Army and Air Force tie 13-13 in the first game of a new inter-service rivalry.

This crowd, plus the throngs in other major sports events here last weekend boosted attendance past the 200,000 mark, and has sent the city scurrying after other choice events.

American Assn. Seeks 8th Member For Loop

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Assn. will meet today in an attempt to find an eighth member for the 57-year-old baseball league.

League President Ed Doherty will be in charge of the meeting at which the 1960 schedule will be discussed.

The league was reduced from 10 members to 7 at the close of the season.

Fort Worth, Omaha and Charleston, W. Va., withdrew. Remaining members are Denver, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Indianapolis, Louisville, Dallas and Houston.

Round Table To Retire, Laurel Officials Bitter

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Round Table, horse racing's Mr. Moneybags, heads for Kentucky and retirement Wednesday, leaving officials of Laurel race course at Laurel, Md., bitter at his owner.

Travis M. Kerr, Oklahoma City oilman, confirmed Monday night that Round Table had run his last race when he was beaten seven lengths by Sword Dancer in Saturday's $110,000 Jockey Club Gold Cup at Aqueduct.

Previously he had accepted an invitation to start Round Table, the world's all-time money winner, in the $100,000 Washington, D.C. International Nov. 11 at Laurel. That was to have been his final race in a test against foreign rivals. Round Table earned $1,749,869 in four years of racing, winning 43 of 66 starts.

"This man Kerr has been giving us the business for three years," said Joseph Cascarella, Laurel executive vice president. Laurel was advised of the retirement plans in a telephone call from Willie Molter, Kerr's trainer, in New York.

Later Kerr blamed unpredictable late fall weather in part for the decision.

"We thought it would be better to let someone else have a chance to run than to have us go there and then withdraw the horse at the last minute because of possible rain."

A second American horse, the Cain Hoy Stable's Bald Eagle, is to run in the race, and Tudu Era will run in Round Table's place.

Tudu Era, owned by Mrs. Herbert Herff, finished first in the 1958 International but was disqualified for fouling Sailor's Guide.

Eleven foreign horses from nine nations will meet in the 1 1/4 mile race on the new Laurel grass course.

Two Handicaps Featured At Waterford This Week

Waterford Park enters the latest racing season in its history this week with pari-mutuels and attendance figures slumping below comparative figures of a year ago, when an earlier meeting was assigned.

For the next four weeks, however, until the Nov. 28 finale, the West Virginia race course will be the only track in operation in the Ohio-Pennsylvania-West Virginia area, following Saturday's closing at Cleveland and Toledo. This temporary "monopoly" is expected to be reflected by higher attendance and some of the minus signs may be lessened, track officials said.

Special bus service from Cleveland will bring fans of that section direct to Waterford Park, while Youngstown, Akron, Canton and other nearby cities will help swell the daily crowds.

They will find two major features on tap for the week of sport, the Big Laurel Handicap at six furlongs on Wednesday and the Kanawha Handicap at a mile and a sixteenth on Saturday. Each event has several excellent supporting races.

On Wednesday, the Big Laurel is flanked by a test for 3-year-olds and upward at a mile and 70 yards on the turf, while the Speed Ball at five furlongs should prove attractive to the flashier sprinters in training on Saturday.

Thursday again will be "open house day" when admission to the grandstand is free to everyone. The daily double payoff was a back to normal Monday at Waterford Park with only 1,999 fans on hand.

A 9-2 combination paid $13.80 as Down In Front, ridden by Anthony Grogan, returned $5.33 and $3 in the first race.

Buckeyes To Play Next 3 For Fun, Hayes Says

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—With the season two-thirds gone, Coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State says his Buckeyes have three big problems facing them—Indiana, Iowa and Michigan.

Woody cited to his press conference Monday that all three future foes are 1-3 in the conference while Ohio is 2-2, and that the record poses an added problem.

"We are always at our best when we are underdogs," Woody said. "When everyone is counting us out, we come up with a winner."

"We don't figure to get licked Saturday. The kids' attitude is great, although we've lost three games, and we'll play the next three for the fun that's in it."

"We're hoping we can improve as a team, and there's no reason why we can't. Our morale is up and our injuries down—giving us better depth. We'll try to balance our running and passing the rest of the way."

"It was our balance that gave Michigan State its greatest problem Saturday. We knew they had defensive weaknesses, and they threw several defenses at us to camouflage those weaknesses."

Indiana, whose 3-2 record matches OSU's, has fine balance in offense, defense and kicking.

Hayes said, and the Hoosiers are no longer the Big Ten doormat.

Scout Gordon Larson described the single-win Indiana team as steady and determined, with few offensive or defensive surprises, but precise in everything. The Hoosiers have scored through the air in every game, whipped Illinois which defeated Ohio, and defeated Nebraska which upset Oklahoma.

The Hoosiers lost 13-30 to Northwestern's league leaders Saturday, but Hayes said Indiana "has the ability to beat anyone on any given day, and we are not taking the game lightly."

In 40 starts against the Hoosiers Ohio has won 27, lost 10, tied 3. The Bucks have taken the last seven, with big scores of 56-0 in 1957 and 49-3 last year.

Ohioans Top Scorers

CHICAGO (AP) — Three of Northwestern's Ohio - developed contingent are among the top six Big Ten football all-games scorers. After the leaders, Iowa's Don Horn (36 points), Wisconsin's Dale Hackbart (36) and Iowa's Don Norton (34), come Wildcats Ray Purdin of Springfield, Ohio; Ron Burton of Springfield, Ohio; and Mike Stock of Barberton, Ohio, with 31, 30 and 29 points respectively.

Twyman Sets Scoring Pace

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cincinnati Royals have lost the winning touch with defeats in their last three games but the head Royal, Jack Twyman, continues to lead National Basketball Assn. scorers.

League statistics released today show Twyman with 227 points in six games—a 37.8 average. His per game pace is second to fabulous Wilt Chamberlain of the Philadelphia Warriors but Wilt has played only two games so far—averaging 39.5. As an indication of his kind of scoring, even though the others have played twice or three times as many games, Chamberlain still ranks seventh in total points.

On the total point basis—which determines the scoring champ—Twyman has opened a good lead over Elgin Baylor of Minneapolis, who has clicked for 163 points in five games. Bill Russell of the champion Boston Celtics, stepping up his scoring this season, is third with 97 points in four starts.

Russell, perennial rebound leader, remains first in that department with 101 recoveries in four games but Chamberlain is setting the per-game pace. In the Warriors' two games—both victories—Wilt had grabbed 62, a 31 a game average.

Hal Greer of Syracuse, hitting 20 of 31 shots, leads in field goal percentage with .645 to .639 for Russell. Bob Cousy of Boston is the top assist man with 42 in four games, and Larry Costello of Syracuse and Richie Guerin of New York top the free throw shooters, each with a .944 percentage on 17 out of 18 attempted.

FIGHT RESULTS

Montreal — Rory Calhoun, 166, White Plains, N. Y., knocked out Joey White, 176, Durham, N.C.; 6. New York — Chico Rollins, 132½, New York, knocked out Steve Haywood, 131, Baltimore, 6. Dallas — Buddy Turman, 183, Tyler, Tex., and Donnie Fleaman, 181, Midlothian, Tex., drew, 10.

Chicago — Gene Gresham, 138, Detroit, stopped Joey Reynolds, 136, St. Louis, 4.

Philadelphia — Willie Gray, 155, Washington, outpointed Fred Terry, 155, Philadelphia, 8.

Mobile, Ala. — Guy Sumlin, 143, Mobile, outpointed Mel Barker, 147, Austin, Tex., 10.

Quebec — Johnny Devison, 117½, Glace Bay, N.S., outpointed Marcel Gendron, 114½, Quebec, 12.

Caracas, Venezuela — Larry Pineda, 113, Philippines, outpointed Nelson Estrada, 116, Venezuela, 10.

San Jose, Calif. — Duke Sabedong, 217, Honolulu, and Willie Richardson, 186, San Jose, fought to no decision (referee stopped fight in second round).

$125,000 Asked For Half World Champion's Pact

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For sale: Half of world welterweight champion Don Jordan. The price: $125,000.

Don Nesseth — a former used car salesman — hung that price tag on Jordan Monday, when he and Jordan announced that they aren't happy together.

Jackie McCoy holds the other half of Jordan's contract, and Jordan indicated he'd be willing to let McCoy take over. Nesseth was willing, too — but only for $125,000.

Since he won the crown from Virgil Atkins, Jordan has defended it twice. He beat Atkins in a rematch and then defeated Denny Moyer in Portland last July.

Although neither Jordan nor Nesseth went into details of their difficulties, Jordan said:

"Nesseth has made fights for me without telling me and has announced appearances that I did not know anything about."

Bragan Accepts Coaching Post With Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Brash Bobby Bragan returns to the scene of some of his more colorful exploits next season when he assumes a coaching role with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The one time Hollywood manager in the Pacific Coast League was named Monday to replace Charlie Dressen who recently signed to pilot the Milwaukee Braves.

Bragan, 42, played eight years of major league ball and managed two teams — Pittsburgh and Cleveland. He was head man at Hollywood for three years and piloted Spokane in the Pacific Coast League last season.

White Sox Pick Up Lefty From Red Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox picked up a much-needed left handed pitcher Monday when they swapped first baseman Ron Jackson to Boston for Frank Baumann.

Baumann, 26, was signed by the Red Sox in 1952 for a reported $80,000 bonus. He compiled a 6-4 record last year including a pair of six-hit victories over Baltimore and Detroit.
